Gift of Winthrop Ames

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1885, by

WILLIAM DAVINGLE,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Southern District of New York.

"THE DRAMA is the most perfect imitation of human life; by means of the stage it represents man in all his varieties of mind, his expressions of manner, and his power of action; and is the first of moralities, because it teaches us in the most impressive way the knowledge of ourselves."—Hastit.
