

DAILY DUTIES INCULCATED
IN A SERIES OF LETTERS,
ADDRESSED TO THE WIFE OF
A CLERGYMAN, PP. 1-173

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649559008

Daily Duties Inculcated in a Series of Letters, Addressed to the Wife of a Clergyman, pp. 1-173
by Mrs. Adams

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

MRS. ADAMS

DAILY DUTIES INCULCATED
IN A SERIES OF LETTERS,
ADDRESSED TO THE WIFE OF
A CLERGYMAN, PP. 1-173

30293

DAILY DUTIES

INCULCATED IN A

SERIES OF LETTERS,

ADDRESSED TO THE WIFE OF A CLERGYMAN.

BY MRS. ADAMS,
Author of Parlor Lectures, &c. &c.

BOSTON:

PUBLISHED BY CROCKER AND BREWSTER,
47, Washington Street:
NEW-YORK:—LEAVITT, LORD, & CO.
132, Broadway.

1835.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1836,
By CROCKER & BREWSTER,
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of Massachusetts.

ADVERTISEMENT.

In presenting this small and unpretending volume to the public, the author feels constrained to use the language of explanation and apology.

A season of leisure, uninterrupted by family cares, afforded an opportunity to reflect upon the importance of the duties devolving upon the wife of a minister; and to look at the individual traits of character, requisite in one, who would be useful in that station.

A keen sense of personal deficiency in the writer, has prepared her to feel the most intense interest, the deepest sympathy in the duties and trials of the inexperienced female, who is introduced, from a circle of confiding friends, to a broad and extended field of labor, where it is utterly impossible, in the nature of things, that any one course of conduct, however judicious, should be acceptable to all; but where it nevertheless becomes a paramount duty for her, to labor, with unremitting industry, and holy zeal, not only to shed around her the silent influence of a blameless example, but also, personally, to engage in the various active duties, which the exigencies of the times demand.

It is something gained to have aimed at a knowledge of the duties connected with the sphere in which we move. And though, in the work now presented, this knowledge may be imperfectly presented, it is given to the public with the sincere desire, that it may elicit something more worthy of the subject, in this untrodden field of Christian benevolence and literary labor.

The apology to be offered is, a sincere desire to cultivate practical godliness. If this little volume, by the blessing of God, who often works by seemingly inefficient means, should promote growth in grace, and prove an assistance to the inexperienced in even a few instances, the labor will not have been in vain.

The writer would earnestly commend it to the prayers of her Christian friends, especially to the wives of clergymen in Maine, composing the "Society for Mutual Improvement," to whom it is respectfully dedicated, by their

Very affectionate friend,

THE AUTHOR.

Kennebeck Co. (Maine,) March 4th, 1835.

CONTENTS.

	Page
LETTER I.
Meekness and Humility, - - - -	13
LETTER II.
Economy, - - - -	17
LETTER III.
Economy,— continued , - - - -	24
LETTER IV.
Covetousness, - - - -	31
LETTER V.
Independence, - - - -	37
LETTER VI.
Employment of Time, - - - -	43
LETTER VII.
The sin of the Athenians, - - - -	48
LETTER VIII.
Consistency, - - - -	54
LETTER IX.
Spirit of Missions, - - - -	61
LETTER X.
Extracts from Correspondence, - - - -	68
LETTER XI.
Forgiveness, - - - -	71
LETTER XII.
Fruits of the Spirit, - - - -	77

	Page
	LETTER XIII.
Style of Living, - - - - -	83
	LETTER XIV.
Style of Living,— continued , - - - - -	88
	LETTER XV.
Education of Children, - - - - -	93
	LETTER XVI.
Education of Children,— continued , - - - - -	100
	LETTER XVII.
Mental Cultivation, - - - - -	106
	LETTER XVIII.
Physical Training of Children, - - - - -	114
	LETTER XIX.
Children of the Parish, - - - - -	120
	LETTER XX.
Various Associations, - - - - -	126
	LETTER XXI.
Duties to Baptized Children, - - - - -	130
	LETTER XXII.
Your Husband in his Ministerial Character, - - - - -	134
	LETTER XXIII.
Holiness of Heart and Life, - - - - -	140
	LETTER XXIV.
Associations for Mutual Improvement, - - - - -	147
	LETTER XXV.
Benevolent Effort, - - - - -	153
	LETTER XXVI.
Quiet Endurance, - - - - -	162
	LETTER XXVII.
Prayer, - - - - -	169

LETTERS

TO THE

WIVES OF MINISTERS.

LETTER I.

MEEKNESS AND HUMILITY.

MY DEAR MARY,—Your letter, giving an account of your discouragements, was duly received. You will rest assured of our affectionate sympathy.

We know full well that the every day burdens of life are often harder to be borne than some great trial, which we can realize as coming directly from the hand of God. Though I know and feel all this, and though I sincerely wish to alleviate your sufferings, you will not think it strange that I shrink from the responsibility of giving advice in your time of difficulty.

However, I have arrived at the conclusion that some little good may arise, at least to my own mind, from reflecting upon the peculiar duties, that grow out of the connection of a minister's wife with the people of her hus-