COMMITTEE REPORT

Of the San Francisco Mechanics' Institute Industrial Exhibition, 1864.

Cutting & Co. exhibit a very fine and varied assortment of case goods, consisting in part of Pickles, tastefully packed in various sized jars; Jams and Jellies, hermetically sealed; Pie and Table Fruits and Fresh Vegetables, preserved in cans; Tomato Catsup; Worcestershire Sauce; Capers; Brandy Peaches, etc.; all of California Manufacture. These goods are all of a very superior quality, and the style of their labeling and packing seems far ahead of imported articles. Of this most important branch of our domestic manufactures we learn that the articles on exhibition are fair samples of what this firm is capable of supplying to the trade in any quantity, and that they give employment to about sixty hands in their manufactory, which is one of the largest of its kind in the United States, occupying as it does, the extensive property and buildings Nos. 21, 23, 25, 27, 29 and 31 Main Street. This branch of industry is of immediate importance to the agricultural interests of the State, since this firm alone annually consumes many tons of fruit and vegetables. In view of the merit of these articles, and the means that they are of retaining in the State so much money, which would otherwise go abroad, we recommend for Cutting & Co. the highest premium that it is in the power of the Society to bestow.
