TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF BRISTOL,
LORD BISHOP OF DERRY,

&c. &c. &c.

MY LORD,

I AM proud of your patronage, because you grant it only to the deserving: Your eye is penetrating, and you saw that my soul was pure.

It is not, my Mæcenâs, because your Family is one of the most ancient and most illustrious of Great Britain; nor because you are full of Honours and Riches, a Peer of England, as well as of Ireland, and in possession of twenty thousand pounds a year, that I think you reflect honour upon me: it is because your soul is mild and noble, your understanding great and just, and because you are the Friend of Mankind.

Custom requires Authors to overwhelm their Patrons with compliments. I intreat your Lordship to dispense with my observing this custom: if my book is good, the dedication of it is the greatest compliment I can pay you; if the book is bad, compliments would be useless, for they would not be read.

I am,

with the most profound respect,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's

most obedient humble servant,

MARTIN SHERLOCK.
