PREFATORY NOTE

IT will not, I hope, be unbecoming to say, here, that the great favor with which these pictures have been received, in this country and in England, has, naturally, given me much pleasure; and this pleasure is all the greater from the abundant evidence I have had that the doings of Willie and his Papa, and Teddy, and Johnny Hay, and that Pauncelote Boy, and their other friends and familiars have amused Republicans and Democrats alike, and (what is perhaps, stranger, in the case of political cartoons) their womenfolks and children, too.

To Mr. Hearst, whose papers, the New York Evening Journal, the Chicago American, and the San Francisco Examiner, have given my pictures their wide circulation, to my fellow-workers for their friendly encouragement, and to the writers of the many pleasant letters I have received about these drawings, I wish to express my thanks and gratitude.
