THE GREATEST OF MIRACLES.

THE words which appear above may well excite curiosity to learn who or what is meant by the greatest of miracles. A question of this purport is natural, and the answer, in my opinion, is obvious. It is to be found in the life and person of Christ. Jesus Himself, Jesus in His human character, taken exclusively as a man, is that reality which may be justly entitled the greatest of miracles.

If this be true, as there are cogent reasons for believing, it is a truth of no mean importance, and one which cannot be brought too strongly into the light of evidence. Far am I from thinking that I have ability or knowledge enough to treat so vast a subject with the
