In memory of a delightful summer at Gould's Grove

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are illiterate has fallen from 750 million to 500 million. The number of people who are illiterate in the world is still 500 million, but the number of people who are illiterate in the world is still 500 million.

The number of people who are illiterate in the world is still 500 million, but the number of people who are illiterate in the world is still 500 million.
