CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

PAGE

Strap communicates to me a conquest he had made of a chandler's widow — Finds himself miserably mistaken — I go to the opera — Admire Melinda — Am cautioned by Banter — Go to the assembly at Hampstead — Dance with that young lady — Receive an insolent message from Bragwell, whose metal is soon cooled — Am in favour with my mistress, whom I visit next day; and am bubbled out of eighteen guineas at cards — Strap triumphs at my success, but is astonished at my expense — Banter comes to my lodging, is very sarcastic at my expense, and borrows five guineas from me, as a proof of his friendship . . . . .	1
---	---

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

We repair to the coffee-house, where we overhear a curious dispute between Wagtail and Medlar, which is referred to our decision — The doctor gives an account of his experiment — Medlar is roasted by Banter at the ordinary — The old gentleman's advice to me . . . . .	14

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

I receive a challenge — The consequences of it — The quarrel being made up, am put in arrest, by the care and affection of Strap — But im- mediately released upon explaining my affair — The behaviour of Mr. Oregon and his two friends — I visit Melinda, whom I divert with an account of the duel — Propose marriage — She refers the matter to her mother, of whom I make a solemn demand of her daughter — The old lady's behaviour — I am discarded, and resent their disdain . . . . .	20

CHAPTER FIFTY

I long to be revenged on Melinda — Apply to Ban- ter for his assistance — He contrives a scheme for that purpose, which is put in execution with great success — I make an attempt on the heart of Miss Gripewell, but am disappointed — Grow melancholy at my disappointment, and have recourse to the bottle — Receive a billet- doux — Am ravished with the contents — Find myself involved in an intrigue, which I imag- ined would make my fortune — Am confounded at my mistake, which banishes all thoughts of matrimony . . . . .	31
--	----

CHAPTER FIFTY-ONE

I cultivate an acquaintance with two noblemen — Am introduced to Earl Strutwell — His kind promises and invitation — The behaviour of his porter and lacquey — He receives me with an appearance of uncommon affection — Undertakes to speak in my behalf to the minister — Informs me of his success, and wishes me joy — Introduces a conversation about Petronius Arbitrator — Falls in love with my watch, which I press upon him — I make a present of a diamond ring to Lord Straddle — Impart my good fortune to Strap and Banter, who disabuse me, to my utter mortification . . . . .	46

CHAPTER FIFTY-TWO

I attempt to recover my watch and jewel, but to no purpose — Resolve to revenge myself on Strutwell, by my importunity — Am reduced to my last guinea — Obligated to inform Strap of my necessity, who is almost distracted with the news — But, nevertheless, obliged to pawn by best sword for present subsistence — That small supply being exhausted, I am almost stupefied with my misfortunes — Go to the gaming table, by the advice of Banter, and come off with unexpected success — Strap's ecstasy — Mrs. Gawky waits upon me, professes remorse for her perfidy, and implores my assistance — I do myself a piece of justice by her means, and afterwards reconcile her to her father . . . . .	58

nial scheme — I accept of his terms — Set out for Bath in a stage coach, with the young lady and her mother — The behaviour of an officer and lawyer — Our fellow-travellers described — A smart dialogue between my mistress and the captain . . . . .	71

CHAPTER FIFTY-FOUR

Day breaking, I have the pleasure of viewing the person of Miss Snapper, whom I had not seen before — The soldier is witty upon me — Is offended — Talks much of his valour — Is reprimanded by a grave gentlewoman — We are alarmed with the cry of highwaymen — I get out of the coach, and stand in my own defence — They ride off without having attacked us — I pursue them — One of them is thrown from his horse and taken — I return to the coach — Am complimented by Miss Snapper — The captain's behaviour on this occasion — The prude reproaches me in a soliloquy — I upbraid her in the same manner — The behaviour of Mrs. Snapper at breakfast disoblige me — The lawyer is witty upon the officer, who threatens him . . . . .	79

CHAPTER FIFTY-FIVE

I resolve to ingratiate myself with the mother, and am favoured by accident — The precise lady finds her husband, and quits the coach — The captain is disappointed of his dinner — We
