"World Corporation"

By KING CAMP GILLETTE

Discoverer of the Principles and Inventor of the System of "World Corporation"

THE message herein contained is Truth; and Truth is law, no matter in what dress it may be found or to what it may apply. When discovered to the mind of man, it must be accepted, and become a part of the great superstructure of knowledge and progress. It is immortal and infinite.

NOTICE.

Mr. Gillette, the present writer and inventor of "World Corporation," has for many years been interested in social and industrial problems, and has published three books upon these subjects; namely, "The Human Drift," 1894, "Gillette's Social Redemption," 1907, and "Gillette's Industrial Solution," 1908. The last two books were written by Mr. M. L. Severy.

These three books in their exposition of Mr. Gillette's ideas of "World Corporation" outlined and proposed certain protective details of organization then considered advisable, but which Mr. Gillette does not now consider necessary. Therefore, the following Charter, By-laws, and Prospectus, and the opinions expressed, should be read as a self-contained proposition, separate and apart from any previous writings, and as exhibiting Mr. Gillette's individual views and final conclusions, his personal judgment being that the people can be best protected and safeguarded by Publicity and the World-wide Character of "World Corporation."

This statement is written at request of Mr. Severy and to guard against any misunderstanding by those who have read any of the previous works.
