PREFACE

TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

Six new Chapters are added. So much has been done in Tea since I last wrote, I found it impossible to embody all in the former book, and so preferred to give it separately. The new Chapters treat of—

COUNTRIES OUTSIDE CHINA AND INDIA THAT PRODUCE TEA.
TEA STATISTICS.

MARKETS FOR TEA OUTSIDE GREAT BRITAIN.

MAKING INDIAN TEA KNOWN IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.
TEA MACHINERY.

WEIGHING AND BULKING OF INDIAN TEAS AT CUSTOM HOUSE.

A separate and full Index of the subjects treated of in the additions to this Fourth Edition will be found at the end of the Book.

PREFACE
TO THE THIRD EDITION.

THE experience of four more years, which includes six months' residence in the Neilgherries, is embodied in the following, while the whole of the letter-press of the Second Edition has been corrected and revised.

PREFACE
THE SECOND EDITION.

THREE years' further experience, and visiting two Tea districts I had not seen before, have enabled me to amend whatever was faulty in the First Edition. The whole has been revised, and much new matter is added throughout. A new Chapter at the end on the Past, the Present, and the Future of Indian Tea will, it is hoped, be found interesting. An Index (a great want to the First Edition) is added, so that all information on any point can be at once found. The manufacture of Green Tea, of which I was ignorant when I last wrote, is given, and the advisability of that manufacture is discussed.

In its present form I hope and believe this little work will be found useful and interesting to all connected with Tea.
