THE author is greatly indebted to Dr. Whitney of Cambridge, the Very Rev. Dr. Lawlor (Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, and Professor of Ecclesiastical History, T.C.D.), Professor W. Alison Phillips, M.A. (Oxon), and Mr. J. E. Healy, M.A., for their kindly criticisms and counsel ; to the Rev. George Sidney Baker, B.D., and the late Canon Hugh W. B. Thompson, for reading the book in its rough state and noting some necessary amendments. From the officials of the great public libraries, especially of the Bodleian and the Bodleian Camera ; the British Museum ; Trinity College, Dublin ; Dr. Williams's, London ; the National Library of Ireland ; the University College, Cork ; and some others, he has received invariable courtesy, loans of books, and much patient assistance in tracing rare books and difficult references. The Rev. R. H. Babington, B.A. (Oxon), and Mr. Archibald Orr-Ewing, M.A., M.B. (Camb.), have given him valuable help in the proof-reading.

To these, and many friends unnamed, the author tenders his grateful thanks for their encouragement, advice, and aid.
