

GIVING AND GETTING
CREDIT: A BOOK
FOR BUSINESS MEN

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649255078

Giving and getting credit: a book for business men by Frederick B. Goddard

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

FREDERICK B. GODDARD

GIVING AND GETTING
CREDIT: A BOOK
FOR BUSINESS MEN

GIVING AND GETTING CREDIT

By FREDERICK B. GODDARD

The Art of Selling

12MO, FLEXIBLE CLOTH, 50C.

Giving and Getting Credit

12MO, CLOTH, $1.00

NEW YORK

F. TENNYSON NEELY

114 FIFTH AVENUE

GIVING AND GETTING CREDIT

UNIV. OF CALIFORNIA

A BOOK FOR BUSINESS MEN

BY FREDERICK B. GODDARD

NEW YORK
F. TENNYSON NEELY
114 FIFTH AVENUE
1898

10/19/88

HF 5566

G7

TO VIMU
AIRBORNE

COPYRIGHT, 1895,
By FREDERICK B. GODDARD

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

CREDIT AND MONEY.

	PAGE
The meaning of Credit.—It utilizes the present value of a future payment.—It neither creates nor destroys capital.—Credit system a vast series of mutual dependencies.—Credit the "soul of commerce."—Ninety per cent of business done upon Credit.—Coined money the standard measure of values.—Is a medium, and also an object of exchange.—Money is supposed to stand still while prices of other things move.—The wealthy deal chiefly by Credits, they exchange the title to money by checks, etc.—Long and short Credits.—A link broken in the chain.—When confidence gives way to distrust.—Credit unused grows rusty.—Merchants' notes in the market.—The simple and national relations of buyer and seller.—The merchant a better judge of Credits than the banker.—The "nimble sixpence.".....	7

CHAPTER II.

OF FAILURES AND CHANGES IN BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

	PAGE
Some failures will surely occur.—Proportionate uniformity in the number of failures in a series of years.—Average losses on credit sales.—Total failures and liabilities during the last thirty-eight years.—Business prosperous about three-quarters of the time.—Cardinal considerations in giving Credit.—Changing conditions.—Fraudulent and unfortunate failures.—It is the unexpected which makes bad debts.—Meaning of insolvency, failure, and bankruptcy.....	23

CHAPTER III.

SUGGESTIONS AND PRECAUTIONS.

Business men should make known their financial position, the age of mystery passing away.—Applicant for Credit should prove that he is worthy of it.—Policy of establishing a Credit when it is not needed.—Chances taken with old patrons.—Merchants' ledger his barometer.—Where is the money of a tardy debtor?—"Dry rot" in old concerns.—"No friendship in business" an atrocious maxim.—Most men mean to be honest.—Weakness of the Credit system.—Must walk by facts and not by faith.—Neither display nor liberality should mislead.—Should be not merely persuaded but convinced.—Giving Credit implies risk.—The weakness of timidity and over-caution.—The cost of conducting business.—Personal expenditure.—The catechism of a business house.—Red tape.—“Not processes but results” wanted..... 37

CONTENTS.

3

PAGE

CHAPTER IV.

ESTIMATING CREDITS.

Balance sheet or statement, duly signed and verified, the best test of a man's financial condition.—The construction of a statement indicates much.—Assets shrink, but liabilities never.—“Real” and “nominal” assets.—Houses in irretrievable difficulties holding on.—References and their value.—Questionable references.—The best type of buyers.—Overloading Credit customers.—Dating.—Cash discounts.—A “time to watch and a time to pray.”..... 53

CHAPTER V.

POINTS ON GIVING CREDIT.

Nature of the patronage upon which a credit customer must depend.—Agricultural, manufacturing, mining, and mixed pursuit communities.—Over-production.—Better stimulate consumption than try to check production.—A crusade of development.—Losing sight of the trend of affairs.—Business a matter of principles and methods.—Difference in men.—Luck.—The line between speculation and enterprise.—Amateur gambling.—Opinions of a New York merchant.—Giving Credit upon instinct or intuition.—The Jewish race in commercial affairs.—Credit in other countries..... 69