PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

THIS Edition of "The Articled Clerk's Hand-book" has been carefully revised, and the necessary alterations made in accordance with the recent statutes down to those of the past session.

The Questions asked at the Intermediate Examinations to the present time have been added.

It is hoped that the work will be found complete.

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

In the following pages the Writer has endeavoured to give to the Articled Clerk a clear and comprehensive guide to the Study of the Law in all its branches, also every information respecting the Examinations, &c., &c., at a small cost. The work is divided into Two Parts; the First Part contains Information upon Study, Law Lectures, Debating Societies, Mutual Correspondence, Common Place Books, &c., &c. (compiled from the best Authorities), a sketch of each of the different branches of the Law, and the books to be read and studied thereon. The Second Part contains full information as to the stamping and enrolment of Articles of Clerkship, and the service under them; also as to giving the Notices of Examination and Admission, and the requisite Forms for such purpose; the proceedings to be taken subsequent to the Examination in order to get admitted, and the necessary Forms; and lastly, a Table of Fees payable.

And to make the Work as useful as possible, a Glossary of Technical Law Phrases is added.

It was proposed to have incorporated the present Work into the Writer's Digest of Examination Questions and Answers, but it having run to a greater length than was anticipated, it was thought better to keep the two distinct, as that course would necessarily have greatly increased the cost of the Digest; publishing the present Work as a supplement to the Digest, and leaving to the option of the Articled Clerik whether he purchase the two or not.

May, 1859.
