PREFACE

THE following pages contain a full account of the semi-centennial celebration of the New York Academy of Medicine, held on January 29, 1897, together with a copy of the original constitution of the Academy and a list of the officers of the Academy from the time of its organization, in 1847, down to January 1, 1897.

The celebration began with exercises in the large auditorium of the Carnegie Music Hall, Fifty-seventh Street and Seventh Avenue, at 8.30 P.M. A brilliant assembly of the Fellows of the Academy and their invited guests filled the hall to overflowing.

After the eloquent address of the President of the United States, the Hon. Grover Cleveland, which closed the formal part of the exercises, a reception was held in the building of the Academy of Medicine, No. 17 West Forty-third Street. Here all were presented to the President of the United States, who graciously delayed his departure to Washington for the purpose of meeting the Fellows of the Academy and their guests.

At a stated meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine, held November 5, 1896, the following recommendation from the Council was read:

"In view of the approach of the semi-centennial of the New York Academy of Medicine, the Council recommends to the Academy that the occasion be celebrated in an appropriate manner, and that the details of this celebration should be left to three committees—one of arrangement, one of invitation, and one of entertainment, to be appointed by the President, of which he shall be a member ex-officio."

Upon motion this recommendation of the Council was accepted.

The President appointed the following committees, in accordance with the resolution:
