"What man would be wise, let him drink of the river,
That bears on its bosom the records of time,
A message to him every vessel can deliver,
To teach him to creep till he knows how to climb."

“ Money came along and attempted to buy the canvases of Angelo, but it did not paint them.”

FOUNDATION PRINCIPLES.

Labor and raw materials are the only true measures of value, fluctuating with supply and demand.

Realities, improvements, and commodities are the wealth of the country, and are exchanged one for the other.

Money is simply a medium of exchange, a convenient measure of value. Primary money, redemption money rates values, and must be intrinsically valuable as a commodity, and this value depends upon labor, supply and demand.

There is never any demand for primary money in the country of issue, except there be a lack of confidence caused by poor legislation, or apparent sentiment towards legislative blunders.

At the bottom of every citizen's conscience, the most obscure as well as the greatest, at the very depths of the soul, there is a sentiment—sacred, sublime, insurmountable and eternal—the SENTIMENT of RIGHT. This is the hidden, irresistible obstacle, veiled in the recesses of every mind, which EVERYTHING FALSE MUST sooner or later encounter. It is the rock on which EVERYTHING EVIL must inevitably be shipwrecked.—Victor Hugo.
