BOX 110, STANFORD UNIVERSITY

With Volume VIII, the members of the Geological and Mining Society have attempted to further the usefulness and utility of the Yearbook by filling in the gaps of the directory. The locating of the missing members has developed into one of the most serious problems confronting the Publication Committee, and we hope that the Alumni will aid us by perusing the list of "Missing Members" and reporting anyone whose address is known. Inasmuch as the Yearbook is for the Alumni, your hearty support is appreciated.

The geographical index, which was started by last year's editor, is subject entirely to your coöperation, and where a change of address is contemplated, a note to the Society will further the cause very materially.

Your attention is called to the advertisers, whose support makes this issue possible. A mention of the Yearbook in answering advertisements will be of value to us.

THE PUBLICATION COMMITTEE.
