PREFACE TO THE NINTH EDITION.

THE short space of time which has elapsed between the issue of the eighth and the present edition has not permitted me to gather many new experiences. All I can offer my readers are some new special Indications.

DR. SCHÜSSLER.

OLDENBURG, July 1882.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in financial matters.

2. The second part outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. This includes the use of surveys, interviews, and statistical analysis to draw meaningful conclusions from the collected information.

3. The third part focuses on the ethical considerations surrounding data collection and analysis. It highlights the need to protect individual privacy and ensure that data is used responsibly and for its intended purpose.

4. The fourth part discusses the challenges and limitations of data analysis. It notes that while data provides valuable insights, it is not infallible and can be subject to various biases and errors.

5. The fifth part concludes by summarizing the key findings and recommendations. It stresses the importance of ongoing monitoring and evaluation to ensure that the data remains relevant and useful over time.

PREFACE TO THE THIRD EDITION.

I PRESENT my little work in the Third Edition to the public, after having added several Indications, and having completely re-written it.

The First and the Second Editions were so quickly out of print that I may hope the present one will meet the kindly reception of its predecessors.

As every innovation gains by opposition, it is a source of satisfaction to me that some opponents have appeared against my Therapeutics. The views of these critics the reader will find in the part entitled "Refutation of some Objections."

OLDENBURG, May 1876.

TRANSLATOR'S PREFACE.

WITH Dr. Schüssler's permission I have undertaken the translation of this method of treating disease by means of triturated Tissue Salts,—Constitutional Tonics, which tend to restore the lost or disturbed proper balance of Cell Salts. Its publication in English will, I hope, make it known to many to whom otherwise it might be unavailable.

Biology, Cellular Pathology, Spectrum Analysis, Minute Anatomy, Analytical Chemistry, and such kindred Sciences, have furnished a field of research to this German physician. Professional skill and science combined, have thus led to the elucidation of this new system of Therapeutics.

A General and Therapeutical Index and a Reference Table have been arranged and added by me to the original; the former to give a resumé of diseases which are histo-pathologically alike, and require such remedy as is mentioned at the head of each group.
