FOREWORD

SEVERAL of the pieces in this collection have appeared in the Magazines. The stanzas entitled Sepulcrum Dulcissimi Cantoris were first printed in "THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW," and I am indebted to one of its late editors for permission to include them in this volume. A Flower of Smokeland came out in "THE CORNHILL," and it is with the greatest pleasure that I acknowledge the kindness of Messrs. Smith, Elder, & Co. in allowing me to reprint this poem.

An Elegy has been printed separately, under another title.

A Pyrenean Nocturne, By the River, To a Greek Craftsman, &c. &c., were originally published in Manchester papers.

Beatae Memoriae is a little tribute to the memory of the brave men who have fallen in South Africa.
