NOTES
ON THE
LITERATURE OF CHARITIES.¹

A recent discussion in Baltimore of the subject of organized charities has quickened popular interest in the subject and has stimulated further inquiry. Public spirited citizens and university students are beginning to seek more systematic and detailed information respecting the history and operation of organized charitable effort. Literature here comes to our aid. It can supply a perpetual fountain of knowledge, experience, and enthusiasm for practical work.

BALTIMORE.

For Baltimore readers the literature of charities, like charity itself, begins at home. Our first duty is to inquire for local ¹This paper was prepared for a popular audience and a local purpose. It was read, in selected parts, at the closing meeting of the Conference on Charities held in Baltimore, April 15-16, 1887, and is now published in a revised form to meet a public need. Without attempting bibliographical completeness, the writer has aimed to present a suggestive description of some of the best and most available literature on charities. For valuable references and occasional comments, acknowledgment is due to President D. C. Gilman, Dr. Richard T. Ely, Dr. J. F. Jameson, Dr. Edward W. Bemis, Professor G. Stanley Hall, Dr. Fabian Franklin, Messrs. Gardner, Warner, Young, and Tuska, of the Johns Hopkins University. Use has been made of some of the best known catalogues and of the Co-operative Index. The writer has merely endeavored to give unity and point to a great variety of scattered materials.
