REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND; ITS FAULTS AND FAILURES

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649692255

Representative Government in England; Its Faults and Failures by David Syme

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd. Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

DAVID SYME

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND; ITS FAULTS AND FAILURES

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND

BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

OUTLINES OF AN INDUSTRIAL SCIENCE.

Second Edition, erown 800, cloth, price 6s.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The dissatisfaction with the current doctrines of political economy is evidently on the increase. The number of attacks from different points of view is already considerable, and they are likely to be more numerous in future. The name and the thing are alike disagreeable to many writers, and both the method and the results of former investigations are called in question. One of the most vigorous attacks made in recent years is that contained in this volume by Mr. Symc. It is a book which may be read with thorough enjoyment; Mr. Syme is master of a clear, vigorous, and include the contained of the contained in the contained of the clear, vigorous, and include the contained of the clear, vigorous, and include the contained of the sive style. No greater contrast could there be than between the transparent English of this volume and the clumsy, lumbering sentences of many former writers on this, which Carlyle calls the dismal science. Mr. Syme's polemic is most enjoyable—a healthy breeze of moral indignation breathes through the book; nor do we think the indignation out of place when we consider the revelations which he makes. . . In attack, Mr. Syme is often irresistible . . attack, Mr. Syme is often irresistible . . . no more vigorous polemic have we read for a long time than the attack on competition."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

"Das Kleine Buch tritt mit dem Gefühl eines neuen und Kühnen Versuchs in durchweg polemischem Ton auf gegen die Englische National-ökonomie. . . So muss man ihm zugeben dass er der Englischen National-ökonomie gegenüber durchaus neu und selbständig dasteht. . . Wünchten wir auch dass dieses Buch recht bald in deutscher Uebersetzung erschiene."—Allgemehre Zeitung.

"Mr. Syme has written a treatise on what he calls Industrial Science, in which, It. Syme has written a treatise on what he traits institute Science, in which, in a sufficiently friendly spirit, he calls in question some of the most popular dogmas accepted by English political economists. On the whole he accords in spirit with Mr. Mill, but mostly on those sides of him on which he was least of a pure economist and most of a social philosopher. Mr. Syme's view is that among writers on political economy too much emphasis is laid on the narrower, cuarser, and by no means universal facts of man's nature and of the physical world, and not enough on the more counter conditions which are of the itemate moments and was often condithe more complex conditions which are of the utmost moment, and yet often evade notice. Thus Mr. Synce holds that political economy is not so much conversant with facts of the outward world as with the desires and other feelings to which these facts give rise. Nevertheless, Mr. Syme is by no means a sertimental writer, and, in fact, his work is closely and aptly reasoned throughout, and in a made which Mr. Mill, of all others, would have admired." - Westmineter Kevicia.

"There can be only one opinion, that he displays remarkably acute powers of thinking, and shows himself perfectly competent to handle and make intelligible some of the abstrucer questions connected with our industrial forces, and their relation to the social well-being of the community."—Liverplan Mercury.

"We should advise the friends as well as the opponents of the modern school of economists to read this bank attentively. It is thoughtful, full of suggestions, and worthy at least of fair consideration."—Standard.

"I regard political economy as a purely mental science." Such is the startling statement which faces us on page to of this little volume, and which may be said to define the purpose of the author. To those who are accustomed to regard political economy as platelogy, or the science of wealth, and who see in it only rules or the expression in theoretical terms of the modes in which wealth is distributed according to the dictates of self-interest, the sentence we have quoted will appear a paradox. Is not wealth the most material of all things? and if the science which treats of it to mental, where can there he found in any direction a science of material phenomena? Yet Mr. Syme has a good deal to say for himself. . . We have not space to follow him in his expositions of 'principles' and of the 'relations' of industrial science to sociology, to ethics, and to art; but we have said enough to show that we regard this little book as well worthy of careful study. It is full of freshness and force. Though it contains only 'outlines,' they are suggestive; and we hope that Mr. Syme will take an early opportunity of filling in the outlines, and giving us a complete view of industry as a mental science."—Britteh Quarterly Review. " I regard political economy as a purely mental science.' Such is the startling

LONDON: KEGAN PAUL, TRENCH & CO., 1, PATERNOSTER SQUARE.

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND

ITS FAULTS AND FAILURES

By DAVID SYME

AUTHOR BY "OUTLINES OF AN INDUSTRIAL SCIENCE"

SECOND EDITION

LONDON
KEGAN PAUL, TRENCH & CO., 1, PATERNOSTER SQUARE
1882

JN508 59 1882

CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION

Legislative remedies—General character of British legislation—

Great expenditure of labour and time requisite to carry a measure through Parliament—Questions now awaiting settlement—How such slow progress is made ... xi.-xxvi.

CHAPTER I.

EARLY REPRESENTATIVE PARLIAMENTS.

				1
riod	7200		0.00	. 2
04.84			*	3
				5
				7
tives w	ere pre	sent		8
2444	144			10
a the e	arly Pa	rliamer	nts	12
230				13
tives	000	4490		14
10000				16
				17
				18
		tives were pre	tives were present	tives were present

CONTENTS.

And payment for services			PAGE
There Milliand alones serverented			19
			20
5			22
[18] [18] [18] [18] [18] [18] [18] [18]			24
2.6. (A. 1977)			25
[시간 [1] 이 전 [4] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1			26
3.이 가장 얼마가 되었다. 하면 쓰러 하는데 이번 이번 이번 전에 되었다. 그는데 이번 살아 보는데 이번에 가장 하는데 했다면서 그 때문에 되었다.			27
Why two representatives were elected by each constituen	cy	95	29
The duties of a representative	1950		29
Why there are no instances of representatives having	been d	is-
missed by their constituents			32
Representatives chosen by an indirect process	665		32
CHAPTER II.
A NEW DEPARTURE.
Abandonment of the residential qualification for member	S		37
Consequent increase in the number of candidates			38
보는 이번 보는 경우에 그 중에 보는 사는 보다는 사람			39
0.0			40
Character to the above to the comment of the comment of the terms of the comment			41
The substitution of Septennial for Annual Parliament			2000
consequences			44
The Act for Preventing the Long Intermission of Parlian	nents		47
Abuse of the royal prerogetive in summoning Parliament			30.760
The Milesoful Ask of see		121	47 48
mt 1.1 + C.1 Y 1.1 + 1 + 1 + 1		+++
		110	51
			52
] 이 경영 경영 및 (전략) 전 경영			53
1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1			55
·····	*		56
크리프라스테이트 (CONTROL EN 1999) 이 아이지를 즐겁게 되어 되는 보고 있다면서 아이들은 사람들이 없는 것이다. 그리고 있다면서 그리고 있다면 그리고 있다면서 그리고 있다면 그리고 있다면서 그리고 있다			57
Failure of subsequent attempts to repeal this Act			59

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER III.

GOVI	ERNMENT	BY PART	Y.
v						PAGE
The organization of party						61
The unprincipled character	100	0.7.0	200			63
Recent origin of Governme		733-1-22-22-2				67
Government by Party not g	governmen	t by the n	najority	346		68
Party government and pa	rliamentar	y governi	nent of	ten an	tago-
nistic			999		100	70
As under the leadership of	Earl Grey	- 2000	26666	25000	25000	70
And Lord Palmerston						71
Parliamentary reform retar	ded in con	nsequence	of its !	having	been made a party question						72
Government by Party at vo	riance wit	h represer	ntative i	institut	ions	74
Instances where the min	istry of th	he day h	ave ov	erruled	the majority in Parliament						76
The dogma of ministerial a		000 00000	0.00	5690	. New	78
Strong governments and he	1011 S - 1011 W - 511 W		00000		CHARL.	78
The Walpole and Pitt ad			ared w	ith tho		70.0
Earl Grey and Mr. Gl		사기자 하나 사이들은 연구.				82
The danger of strong gover				•••		84
The natural results of Go
political history of Ita		38		3742	444	87
Singular position taken up						88
The general tendency of G				1944		91
The system confined to po			1888			93
The system confined to po	internation	1000		1	-444	33
		1100-011
	CHAPT	ER IV.
c	UTSIDE P	RESSURE.
A new force in politics			(522)	102.0	1933	95
Public opinion-what is it						98
The Commons have repea					00000
the constituent body b	NOTE OF BUILDING		villa di la maria
at	Paris Paris	- Spinis	Control of the	GOOD ECOLO	8 (1777)	00

CONTENTS.

						PAGE
Lord John Russell's three Reform	Bil!s					100
Mr. Edward Baines' Reform Bill			Con.			106
Mr. Gladstone's Reform Bill		1944				108
The Commons have rejected mea-	sures a	pprove	I of by	the c	on-
stituent body because public	opinie
		•••				110
						110
The Commons have passed mease selves opposed when strong or	itside p	ressure
: 1 - 1000 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 10						112
How the Derby Reform Bill was o			•••			113
The Lords and the Irish Church D	isestab	lishmer	it Bill			118
The danger of giving way to outsid	e press	ure	•••	10.6		120
The platform and the press are val	uable e	ducatio	nal age	ncies		122
But unreliable as organs of public	epinior	1				123
Public opinion made a convenience	e of	•••	•••		•••	126
СНАР	TER	v.
THE POLITICAL UNI	TY OF	THE C	ABINE	T.
What parliamentary government h	U. 100 S.		l into			130
Gradual introduction of the present						132
The position of the cabinet relative to Parliament						135
The cabinet act first and ask the	sanct	ion of	Parlian	nent af	ter-
wards	*		222	5550		136
Sir G. C. Lewis on government by	depar	tments			272	138
		110				141
The fallacy of his views	100	1440				142
Cabinet control over legislation in	conven	ient				146
And has to be abandoned on great	emerg	encies	(60)			149
Lord Palmerston's India Bill	660	*				150
Mr. Disraeli's Reform Bill	946		695			151
No rule determining what is, or wh	hat is n	ot, a ca	binet (question	n	153
The incoming ministry do not always	iys assi	ame the	respo	nsibility	y of the policy on which they may	have o	btained	office	•••	•••	154