The greatest power of prayer is not its answer in the material realm, but its influence in bringing harmony with God's laws. Prayer in its lower aspects not a contravention of law, but a larger knowledge of law. Prayer in its higher meaning of the greatest therapeutic and spiritual value. It opens new channels for new life.

Its normality. It does not reason, but obeys. It seems to be more elemental. It has great reserves. Some think it is more closely allied to the divine.
