

OF THE IMITATION OF CHRIST: FOUR BOOKS

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649611300

Of the Imitation of Christ: Four Books by Thomas à Kempis

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

THOMAS À KEMPIS

OF THE IMITATION
OF CHRIST: FOUR BOOKS

112
A
112
OF THE
IMITATION OF CHRIST

FOUR BOOKS

LONDON
KEGAN PAUL, TRENCH, TRÜBNER & CO., LTD.
PATERNOSTER HOUSE, CHARING CROSS ROAD

MCMIII

NIHIL OBSTAT.

THOMAS A. POPE, Cong. Oral,
Censor deputatus.

IMPRIMATUR.

HENRICUS EDUARDUS,
CARD. ARCHIEP. WESTMONAST.

Die 24 Oct., 1890.

(All rights reserved.)

100-100-100-100

CONTENTS.

BOOK I.

ADMONITIONS USEFUL FOR THE SPIRITUAL LIFE.

CHAP.		PAGE
I.	Of imitating Christ, and despising all the vanities of the world	3
II.	Of having a humble opinion of self	5
III.	Of the doctrine of truth	7
IV.	Of prudence in our doings	10
V.	Of reading the Holy Scriptures	11
VI.	Of inordinate affections	12
VII.	Of flying vain hope and pride	13
VIII.	Of shunning too much familiarity	14
IX.	Of obedience and subjection	15
X.	Of avoiding superfluity of words	16
XI.	Of acquiring peace and of zeal in progress	17
XII.	Of the advantage of adversity	19
XIII.	Of resisting temptation	20
XIV.	Of avoiding rash judgment	23
XV.	Of works done out of charity	24
XVI.	Of bearing the defects of others	26
XVII.	Of the monastic life	27
XVIII.	Of the examples of the holy fathers	28
XIX.	Of the exercises of a good religious	31
XX.	Of the love of solitude and silence	34
XXI.	Of compunction of heart	38
XXII.	Of the consideration of the misery of man	40
XXIII.	Of the thought of death	43
XXIV.	Of judgment, and the punishment of sins	47
XXV.	Of the fervent amendment of our whole life	51

Revised 2-8-27. S.M.S.

BOOK II.

ADMONITIONS LEADING TO THE INTERIOR LIFE.

I.	Of the interior life	59
II.	Of humble submission	63
III.	Of a good peaceable man	64

CHAP.		PAGE
IV.	Of a pure mind and simple intention	65
V.	Of the consideration of self	67
VI.	Of the joy of a good conscience	68
VII.	Of the love of Jesus above all things	70
VIII.	Of familiar friendship with Jesus	72
IX.	Of the want of all solace	74
X.	Of gratitude for the grace of God	78
XI.	Of the fewness of the lovers of the Cross of Jesus	80
XII.	Of the Royal Road to the Holy Cross	82

BOOK III.

OF INTERIOR CONSOLATION.

I.	Of the speaking of Christ inwardly to the faithful soul	93
II.	That truth speaks within us without noise of words	94
III.	That the words of God are to be heard with humility, and that many weigh them not	96
	A prayer to implore the grace of devotion	98
IV.	That we ought to walk in truth and humility before God	99
V.	Of the wonderful effect of divine love	101
VI.	Of the proof of a true lover	104
VII.	Of concealing grace in the keeping of humility	107
VIII.	Of the lowly esteem of self in the sight of God	110
IX.	That all things are to be referred to God as to the furthest end	112
X.	That it is sweet to serve God, despising the world	113
XI.	That the desires of the heart are to be examined and moderated	116
XII.	Of learning patience and of wresting against carnal desires	117
XIII.	Of the submission of one under obedience after the example of Jesus Christ	119
XIV.	Of considering the secret judgments of God, lest we be puffed up with our own good works	121
XV.	What position we are to take, and what we are to say when we desire any thing	123
	A prayer for fulfilling the good pleasure of God	124
XVI.	That true comfort is to be sought in God alone	125
XVII.	That we ought to place all our care upon God	126
XVIII.	That temporal miseries are to be borne with patience, after the example of Christ	127
XIX.	Of supporting injuries, and who is proved to be truly patient	129
XX.	Of the confession of our own infirmity, and of the miseries of this life	131
XXI.	That we are to rest in God above all goods and gifts	133
XXII.	Of the remembrance of the manifold benefits of God	136
XXIII.	Of four things which bring much peace	139
	A prayer against evil thoughts	140
	A prayer for the enlightening of the mind	140

CONTENTS.

vii

CHAP.	PAGE
XXIV. That we are not to be curious in inquiring into the lives of others	141
XXV. In what things firm peace of heart and true progress consist	142
XXVI. Of the surpassing benefit of a free mind, which is gained by humble prayer rather than by reading.	144
XXVII. That nothing keeps us back from the Sovereign Good so much as self-love A prayer for cleansing the heart and for heavenly wisdom	146
XXVIII. Against the tongues of detractors	147
XXIX. How in the time of tribulation God is to be invoked and blessed	148
XXX. Of asking the divine aid, and of confidence of recovering grace	149
XXXI. Of neglecting every creature, that so we may find the Creator	150
XXXII. Of denying ourselves and renouncing all covetousness	153
XXXIII. Of the inconstancy of the heart, and of directing our final intention to God	155
XXXIV. That he who loves God relishes Him above all things and in all things.	157
XXXV. That there is no security from temptation in this life.	158
XXXVI. Against the vain judgments of men	160
XXXVII. Of a pure and full resignation of self for obtaining freedom of heart	162
XXXVIII. Of good government in outward things, and of recourse to God in dangers	163
XXXIX. That a man must not be over-eager in his affairs	165
XL. That man has no good in himself, and can glory in none	166
XLI. Of the contempt of all temporal honour	167
XLII. That our peace is not to be placed in men	169
XLIII. Against vain and worldly learning	170
XLIV. Of not drawing to ourselves exterior things	171
XLV. That all men are not to be trusted; and that men are prone to offend in words	173
XLVI. Of having confidence in God when taunts arise against us.	174
XLVII. That all grievous things are to be endured for life everlasting	176
XLVIII. Of the day of eternity, and of the troubles of this life	179
XLIX. Of the desire of eternal life; and how great things are promised to them that strive	184
L. How one that is alone in the world ought to commit himself into the hands of God	188
LI. That we must exercise ourselves in humble works, when we cannot attain to high things	191
LII. That a man ought not to esteem himself worthy of consolation, but rather deserving of stripes	192

CHAP.		PAGE
LIII.	That the grace of God unites not with those who have a relish for earthly things	194
LIV.	Of the different motions of nature and grace	196
LV.	Of the corruption of nature, and of the efficacy of divine grace	200
LVI.	That we ought to deny ourselves, and imitate Christ by the cross	203
LVII.	That a man should not be too much dejected when he falls into some defects	206
LVIII.	Of not searching into high matters, nor into the secret judgments of God	208
LIX.	That all hope and confidence is to be fixed in God alone	212

BOOK IV.

A DEVOUT EXHORTATION TO HOLY COMMUNION.

I.	With how great reverence Christ is to be received	217
II.	That the great goodness and love of God is shown to man in this Sacrament	223
III.	That it is profitable to communicate often	226
IV.	That many benefits are bestowed upon them who communicate devoutly	229
V.	Of the dignity of the Sacrament and of the priestly state	232
VI.	An inquiry concerning the exercise proper before Communion	234
VII.	Of the examination of our own conscience, and of a resolution of amendment	235
VIII.	Of the oblation of Christ on the cross, and of the resignation of ourselves	237
IX.	That we must offer ourselves and all that is ours to God, and pray for all	238
X.	That the Holy Communion is not lightly to be forborne	241
XI.	That the Body of Christ and the Holy Scriptures are most necessary to a faithful soul	244
XII.	That he, who is to communicate, ought to prepare himself for Christ with great diligence	248
XIII.	That a devout soul ought to desire with her whole heart to be united to Christ in the Sacrament	251
XIV.	Of the ardent longing of some devout men for the Body of Christ	253
XV.	That the grace of devotion is obtained by humility and self-denial	254
XVI.	That we ought to lay open our needs to Christ, and crave his grace	256
XVII.	Of fervent love and vehement desire to receive Christ	258
XVIII.	That a man be not a curious searcher into this Sacrament, but a humble follower of Christ, submitting sense to holy faith	260