"— Ita ut interrogati, cujus quisque liber sit, non haesitamus, quid respondere debemus."—Augustinus, contra Manichaeos, l. 33.

LONDON:
SAMUEL BAGSTER AND SONS,
15, PATERNOSTER ROW.

M. DCCC. LXXI.

101. 2. 112.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in the context of public administration and financial management.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and tools used for data collection and analysis. It highlights the need for standardized procedures to ensure the reliability and validity of the information gathered.

3. The final part of the document provides a summary of the key findings and conclusions. It stresses that the data collected and analyzed can provide valuable insights into the performance of various programs and services, which can be used to inform decision-making and improve overall efficiency.
