Preface

By the Author.

Unsupported by faith in the Bible records of revealed Spiritual knowledge, intelligence questions the justice of God for having created liberty of Will, enabling thought and action to antagonize creative purpose and then creating rewards and punishments to influence thought and action in harmony with God's law.

Intelligence supported by the Bible records of revealed Spiritual knowledge creates an atmosphere of perfection in which we recognize our God of creative power and Government, wearing a crown of supreme authority.

When Satan, one of God's ministering spirits in the Paradise of his visible presence, through liberty of will antagonized creative purpose and led an insurrection against God's government introducing disobedience, justice banished Satan and his associates from the Eden of God's visible presence in Heaven and upon earth. When God recognized the hopeless condition of banished humanity from the knowledge of His visible and spiritual presence, He commissioned Christ, His only begotten Son, to satisfy Justice by restoring harmony between an offended God and offending humanity. For this purpose Christ left the throne of His Father's glory and came down to this footstool of earth, where He clothed Divinity in the body of our humanity, enabling us to recognize in Christ our Messiah and Redeemer.

When Satan recognized that Christ would establish His Kingdom of righteousness upon the foundations of human faith, he determined to undermine that foundation by removing Christ from among His disciples. Therefore, death was commissioned to separate the physical body from its spiritual occupant and, Christ's body was placed in the tomb of Joseph, while His sorrowing disciples were scattered like sheep without a shepherd.

Now, while death has power to restore vegetable, animal and human bodies, to the bosom of Mother Earth from which they were taken, death is also subject to the immortal spirit that has chosen the physical body for its physical habitation. Therefore, in the economy of creative purpose, death has no power over the Divine spirit which has been clothed in the body of our humanity. In the course of events, Christ, the immortal tenant, returned to that physical body in Joseph's tomb; and through the power of a resurrected life and the changes accompanying it, He again came forth to mingle among His disciples, whose fears and grief were changed into a spirit of rejoicing beyond the power of human utterance.

Now, after forty days among His disciples, Christ led that band of one hundred and twenty up the slopes of Mount Olivet to the vantage ground of a more perfect knowledge, where they witnessed the triumphal departure of their leader into the cloud that hid the throne of God's visible presence from mortal eyes. Then those rejoicing disciples returned to the upper room filled with the associations of their departed leader, for this was the chosen place where God had requested His disciples to tarry until they had received the baptism of the Holy Ghost, anointing them for their service of ministry and love—a ministry and service that claims no vacation until death shall transfer them to the Eden of God's visible presence in Heaven.

When Christian worshipers recognize the great value of faith in these Bible records of revealed knowledge, the disciples of Christ sacrifice time, talents, ambition and even life itself that they might place these Bible records in the hands of every earnest seeker after truth. For this purpose churches are constructed, ministers are ordained, and Sunday schools are established with their cradle rolls, enabling awakening intelligence to use these Bible records for their corner stone in the building of Life's Activities.
