"The Family Album"

“TURN OVER”

"Oh! so this is Rev'runt Pittinger? I'm awful glad t' meet yuh. Couldn't git out t' church last Sunday, 'cause I was jist gittin' over th' chicken pox. Ma says your sermon was awful nice. She ain't t' home, I'm sorry t' say. She's went over t' Baird's t' show 'm her new crazy-quilt, but I reckon she'll be back after a bit. Set down and make yerself t' home.

"Le's see, what'll we do? We got some daisy new ster'opticon views, but ma's lent 'm. There's th' fambly album, though—Gramma Sparks's. Would yuh like t' look at that? All right; wait till I fetch a chair.

"This here first one's Rev'runt Dinwiddie. I reckon yuh know him, and ef yuh do, yuh know a mighty nice man, 's all I got t' say. Seems like I jist can't git ust t' his bein' gone.

"Turn over."

"This here's Emil Klaus. He used t' run a shop here but now he's a teacher in a barber college up t' Chicago. 'Perfessor Klaus, of th' chair of applied bay rum,' pa calls him. Mebbe pa knows what that means, but it's got me faded.

"Look how he's standin'—jest like he was sayin', 'Next gent!'

"Turn over."
