Dedicated to

Those parents who long to teach their children true principles of life; to young men and women whose love, consummated by marriage, should lead to life-long honey-moon; to the boys and girls before whom Life's wonderland is opening; and to my husband and my children, who, next to God, have been my counsellors and strength.

Introduction

IT is a lamentable fact that ignorance is permitted to abound regarding the most important facts of life. A certain prudishness wrongly called modesty, has prevented the discussion of the problems of creation. Previous attempts to present the matter have failed in some particulars, but our author has approached the delicate subject in a masterful manner. This book will iron out the wrinkles now furrowing many a parental brow. The fondest mother may place this volume in the hands of her son or daughter, confident that the supreme facts of life will be properly presented to the developing mind.

The beautiful story has been so charmingly told that it must fascinate every reader. Not a trace of vulgarity, crudeness, or coarseness is to be found in its pages. Neither is it sentimental, soft, or repellent in the opposite direction. Our author has steered a middle course and taken her ship into harbor without jar or shock. All who read this book will be given exact information and, at the same time, be uplifted morally and mentally. It will give courage to the expectant mother, relieve the puzzled parent, and properly answer the wonderings of youthful minds.

Dr. Muncie has sustained her reputation for attractive speech and facile pen. Her latest work deserves the highest compliment and this, of course, is nothing short of repeated editions. We offer our sincere congratulations to Dr. Muncie and at the same time, in the name of our common profession, thank her for giving us a volume which can be commended to our patrons.
