

LIFE OF JOHN STUART MILL

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649123322

Life of John Stuart Mill by W. L. Courtney

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

W. L. COURTNEY

LIFE OF JOHN STUART MILL

"Great Writers."

EDITED BY

PROFESSOR ERIC S. ROBERTSON, M.A.

LIFE OF MILL.

LIFE
OF
JOHN STUART MILL

BY
W. L. COURTNEY

LONDON
WALTER SCOTT, 24 WARWICK LANE
NEW YORK : THOMAS WHITTAKER
TORONTO : W. J. GAGE AND CO.
1889

(All rights reserved.)

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

	PAGE
Character of James Mill; different estimates by friends and foes; external events of James Mill's life; inner life; his friends; unanimity in domestic life; intellectual work; chief characteristic of James Mill a certain hardness of fibre; the eighteenth-century spirit; James Mill's logical precision and analytic ingenuity equally unfortunate; cold rationalism and its effects; important influence of James Mill, both in the political and in the intellectual world	11

CHAPTER II.

A disquisitive youth; early education given by his father to J. S. Mill; Greek, Latin, and mathematics; estimate of the value of this early education; unsympathetic character of the father; effects on Mill's demeanour; foreign visit to the family of Sir Samuel Bentham; incidents of the visit; interest taken in the French nation; return to England and commencement of public life as a clerk in India House	29
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER III.

	PAGE
Importance of the fifteen years which succeeded Mill's entry into public life ; sketch of Mill's position at the outset of his career ; Democrat, Empiricist, Benthamite, Utilitarian ; Utilitarian Society and Speculative Debating Society ; youthful intolerance of Mill and his friends ; crisis in mental history, its causes and its nature ; friendship with Maurice and Sterling ; reality of the change which had come over Mill ; article on Bentham, and depreciatory estimate of his character ; appreciation of Wordsworth's poetry ; article on Coleridge ; change in views of the method of political study ; advocacy of Female Suffrage .	48

CHAPTER IV.

Illness ; preparation for Logic ; Mill at Falmouth with the Fox family ; description of Mill by Dr. Bain ; Mill as described by Caroline Fox ; death of Henry Mill ; Mill as a botanist ; publication of Mill's Logic ; its reception and its general character ; outline of its contents ; value as a handbook of scientific method ; criticism of Mill's position ; his theory of inference ; treatment of the belief in natural uniformity ; of geometrical axioms ; of cause and effect ; of the science of sociology, as dependent on a science of character.	69
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER V.

Literary work intervening between the Logic and the Political Economy ; friendship and correspondence with Auguste Comte ; Political Economy published in 1848 ; Mill's Essays on Unsettled Questions in Political Economy ; brief sketch of development of economic doctrine ; the mercantile system ; the physiocrats ; Adam Smith ;
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--

CONTENTS.

7

	PAGE
Ricardo; defects of Ricardo; development of the principles of Ricardo and Malthus in Mill; other influences acting on Mill; criticism of Mill's views; relation of political economy to sociology; method of the science; tendencies to socialism; importance of the moral element in future economic study.	90

CHAPTER VI.

Temporary failure of energy after 1848; illness; petition to Parliament on behalf of East India Company; introduction to Mrs. Taylor and its results; exaggerated language of Mill; different verdicts on Mrs. Taylor; marriage with Mill, and death; attempted explanation of Mill's estimate of his wife's genius; actual contributions on her part to his works; grief of Mill at her death	110
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER VII.

Second harvest of intellectual toil; Mill's Liberty ; its permanent and its relative value; presuppositions under which the book is written; Thoughts on Parliamentary Reform and Representative Government published; Utilitarianism , Mill's ethical treatise; difference in character of Mill's utilitarian views and Bentham's; criticism of the book; Examination of Sir William Hamilton published; its general character; dislike of Mansel's views; Mill at Avignon	123
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER VIII.

Plato on philosophers; Mr. Gladstone's judgment of Mill as a politician; "saint of rationalism;" history of candidature at Westminster, and election to parliament; Mill's first
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--