Preface.

This little volume has been compiled amid great difficulties. So few seemed to care about their heredity it was hard to get the necessary information.

It was begun in 1882, and most of the data was collected very soon after this date. A few facts that have come to my knowledge since have been recorded; but no effort has been made to obtain later records.

The book might have been much more complete if inquiries had been more fully answered. Some would reply only after receiving a second, or a third, or a fourth request; and many would not favor me with any reply.

Mistakes will be found, as there is likely to be in all human productions; but great effort has been put forth to secure accuracy in all these records.

When I began this task I fondly hoped and even expected that researches and inquiries might bring to light records from which could be obtained a full account of most, if not all, of the family of our progenitor. But I have found very little of his children, except Samuel. I have searched the old records of Wills, Deeds, etc., on file in Perth Amboy, the colonial capital of New Jersey, and in Trenton and New Brunswick, N. J.; and have visited the old graveyards of Middlesex County; have corresponded or tried to correspond with everyone who claimed to belong to the family; and this volume contains the results of my labors. To those who have aided me I herewith return hearty thanks.

No one can regret more than myself that the record is not more complete. And perhaps no one rejoices more than I that it is as full as it is, and is now put in a shape in which it can be preserved and consulted.

The Compiler.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—This book contains chiefly the record of Samuel, one of the sons of Nicholas. The plan is to take one son and complete his family record before beginning that of another son or daughter. As no record was found of the sons of Samuel except his son Samuel, the plan just explained begins with the family of this Samuel.
