LIGHT ON THE LAST DAYS

BEING FAMILIAR STUDIES IN
THE BOOK OF REVELATION

The Author says:

"I believe that the church in this age sorely needs the teaching of this book (the Revelation)—needs it for guidance, for comfort and for warning. We are approaching the times with which this book particularly deals. We have no right to be indifferent about it. God has written these words for the help of His people in all ages since they were written, but they are of special importance to us and those who succeed us.

"Further, I have found that God's people in our time are greatly interested in this book. I have seldom preached on it without having friends ask me if the sermons were in print. This shows that the heart of man answers in this case, as in all other cases, to the Word of God.

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTORY	13
All people question as to prayer—Man incurably religious—Infidels and atheists pray—Does God answer prayer?—Children ask—Men ask—Ministers ask—Why a book on prayer?—Books that have helped me—Andrew Murray—William E. Biederwolf—E. M. Bounds—Austin Phelps—R. A. Torrey—Why another book?—Each man to give his own testimony—No one to bear witness for another—This book in payment of a debt.

PART ONE

WHAT IS IT TO PRAY?

I.—TALKING WITH GOD	19
Foreword—The sin of prayerlessness—Careless thinking on the most important subject—Searching the Scriptures most uncommon—No knowledge of duty unless we search the Scriptures—Which teach us to pray—Faith like a grain of mustard seed—Prayer not a matter of words—The Pharisee prayed with himself; that is, he did not pray—Pretended prayer an insult to God—The prayer spirit—The child spirit—"Our Father"—This attitude involves submission, obedience—A disobedient child—A rebel—"Examine yourselves"—Are we like little children? If not, we cannot pray—"Let not that man think that he shall receive anything of the Lord."
II.—WHAT IS AN ANSWER TO PRAYER?	27
Foreword—Is "No" an answer to prayer?—The life of a child—A business difficulty—One in sore temptation—If God refuses or neglects to help, is prayer answered?—Answered prayer, prayer which secures the thing desired. If we do not have the thing we ask, we do not have an answer; that is, for the ordinary mind—A sin to trifle with sore hearts.
III.—CAN A SINNER PRAY?	35
Foreword—All men sinners, but some men pardoned sinners. Others rebels—No rebel has a child heart, is loving,
