

THE CHRISTIAN HOUSEHOLD:
EMBRACING THE CHRISTIAN
HOME, HUSBAND, WIFE, FATHER,
MOTHER, CHILD, BROTHER AND
SISTER

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649496372

The Christian Household: Embracing the Christian Home, Husband, Wife, Father, Mother, Child, Brother and Sister by George S. Weaver

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd.
Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

GEORGE S. WEAVER

THE CHRISTIAN HOUSEHOLD:
EMBRACING THE CHRISTIAN
HOME, HUSBAND, WIFE, FATHER,
MOTHER, CHILD, BROTHER AND
SISTER

CHRISTIAN HOUSEHOLD.

EMBRACING

THE CHRISTIAN HOME, HUSBAND, WIFE, FATHER, MOTHER, CHILD, BROTHER AND SISTER.

BY

REV. GEORGE S. WEAVER,

AUTHOR OF "LECTURES ON MENTAL SCIENCE," "ROPS AND REAPS
FOR THE YOUNG," "MORAL ANTIPODES," ETC. ETC.

BOSTON:

A. TOMPKINS AND B. B. MURREY & CO.

1859.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1864, by
A. TOMPKINS,
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Massachusetts.

Microtyped by
ROBERT A. ROBBINS,
New England Type and Stereotype Foundry,
BOSTON.

MY MOTHER,

WHOSE CARE WAS THE SHIELD OF MY CHILDHOOD,
WHOSE FAITH WAS THE STRENGTH OF MY YOUTH,
WHOSE LOVE IS THE DELIGHT OF MY MANHOOD,
And whose Christian Teachings
PLANTED EARLY IN MY SOUL THE SEEDS OF WHICH
MY CHRISTIAN LIFE AND LABORS ARE THE FRUITS,
THIS LITTLE VOLUME
IS MOST GRATEFULLY AND AFFECTIONATELY DEDICATED.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that this is crucial for ensuring transparency and accountability in the organization's operations.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. It highlights the need for consistent and reliable data collection processes to support informed decision-making.

3. The third part of the document focuses on the role of technology in data management and analysis. It discusses how modern software solutions can streamline data collection, storage, and reporting, thereby improving efficiency and accuracy.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the challenges associated with data management, such as data quality, security, and privacy. It provides strategies to mitigate these risks and ensure that data is used responsibly and ethically.

5. The fifth part of the document concludes by summarizing the key findings and recommendations. It stresses the importance of ongoing monitoring and evaluation to ensure that data management practices remain effective and aligned with the organization's goals.

PREFACE.

THIS little volume is designed as a partial answer to one of the most solicitous wants of Christian families. I have for years seen and sorrowed over the absence of Christ in our households. Among the Christian people of every sect there is a sad deficiency of Christian principle and practice at home. The devotion and the love of the Gospel life are alarmingly absent from these sacred places. Thousands of professedly Christian families are unvisited by a song of praise or a voice of prayer, or anything in spirit or practice that distinguishes them from those who scoff at religion. Why is it so? Is it not because, in the Christian race set before us, our theology has out-run our religion? Have we not preached and practised more theology than Christian principle and life? Christendom has been, and is, a grand arena for theological conflict. What avails doctrine, if it do not produce life? But theology is good, necessary. It is the seed. The culture of that seed to its fruit-bearing is religion. It is as necessary to cultivate as to sow. Christians have not sown too much, but cultivated too little; they have not had too much theology, but too little religion. This little book is sent out as a cultivator among the long rows of theological plants, so nicely sown and arranged by the Christian sects. The author is as sensible as any one can be of its defects. He timidly consecrates it to its work. In prayerful solicitude for its frailties, he asks the printer to put it into the hands of the world; the men and women of that world, into whose hands it may fall, he asks to read it as it has been written, in a deep and earnest desire for Christian improvement; and the critics who feel a desire to display their wisdom in an exhibition of its weaknesses, he asks to withhold that labor, and devote it to writing a better book for the same good mission. We want more home books, home culture, home religion. Home is the heart of the world, and that heart needs christianizing. If it were baptized in the fount of our holy religion, how pure and healthy would be the life-currents it would send out through the whole body! If one home shall be made more Christlike and happy, it will be well that I have given this labor to the public. G. S. W.

St. Louis, Feb. 27, 1854.

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

THE CHRISTIAN HOME.

A gallery of art—Christian—Home—A Christian—A home—Home piety—The world without religion—Religion the guardian of home—The trials of home—Disease—Death—The balm of sorrow—Worldly trials—Sin—Home need not be wretched—Religion the heart of home—Piety defined—Love in action—Religion in practice—Respect for the name of God—Respect for God's word—Books—Conversation—Music—Devotional exercises—Prayer—Kindness—Christian homes the world's sources of good. 11

CHAPTER II.

THE CHRISTIAN HUSBAND.

Man alone—Woman—The two together—A companion—True companionship—Marriage a divine institution—The objects of marriage—Low views of marriage—Spiritual companionship—Unhappy unions—Earthly husbands—Half-companioned wives—The husband's marriage promise—His duties—He should companion and cultivate his wife's spirit—What makes home valuable—He should seek the mental and religious improvement of his wife—He must lead the way—Religious reading—The intellectual nature of religious study—Public worship—Family devotions—Progress, the motto of married life. 31

CHAPTER III.

THE CHRISTIAN WIFE.

Woman the last work of creation—Woman fallen to sin—Christianity for woman—Man and woman—Woman the friend of Christ—Woman as a wife—Woman and home—The wife's influence—Little things—An influence—A Christian woman—Woman's relation to Christianity—Means of improvement—Sabbath duties—Religious reading—The wife's spiritual duties. 49

CHAPTER IV.

THE CHRISTIAN FATHER.

The fatherhood—Hereditary gifts—The Christian father's gifts—Character is hereditary—Paternity is an assumed relation—The father's example—The child an imitator—The true father—The moral obligations of a father—A