PREFACE

In the following pages the writers present an English translation of the Prize Code of the German Empire as in force on July 1, 1915, together with a reprint of the official German text. In the appendices are set forth a translation of the Proclamation of February 4, 1915, and the text of the articles relating to matters of prize law contained in existing treaties between the United States and the German Empire.

The Introduction contains a sketch of the historical development of German prize law, the existing organization of the German prize courts, and some considerations as to the binding force of the Declaration of Paris, the Conventions formulated at the Second Peace Congress at The Hague, the Declaration of London, and the treaties between the United States and Prussia.
