EDITOR'S NOTE

THIS book was written in accordance with the Board of Education's Circular (834) on the Teaching of Geography, but, as it deals with most of the countries which have been so radically affected by the War, its publication was delayed until the Peace settlement. It will be noted that the earlier chapters on the Principles of Geography have special reference to Europe; and that the last chapter on "The New Europe" gives a comprehensive review of the changes which the War has brought about.
