PREFATORY NOTE

The subject of the émigrés in America is as a whole an unworked field and was pointed out to me as such by Professor Edward G. Bourne. He suggested that I make a preliminary investigation to see whether there was material for a doctor's thesis. I found enough to encourage me but it was widely scattered and the task of co-ordinating it full of difficulty. I decided therefore to postpone treating the whole subject until I could hope to do it some measure of justice, and to devote my first efforts to the elaboration of an almost unknown episode concerning which I had found many original letters and first-hand records of various kinds.

The number of those to whom I am indebted for suggestions or other assistance, either in my preliminary investigation or in the preparation of my thesis, is too large to admit of individual mention, but my appreciation is none the less warm. There is one, however, without whose kindly encouragement and active aid in the beginning this monograph would never have been written, and my especial thanks are due and are now tendered to Dr. James Bain, Chief Librarian of the Toronto Public Library.
