THE RELIGION OF A MAN OF LETTERS

It is the general custom of this association to choose as its president alternately a classical scholar and a man of wide eminence outside the classics. Next year you are to have a man of science, a great physician who is also famous in the world of learning and literature. Last year you had a statesman, though a statesman who is also a great scholar and man of letters, a sage and counsellor in the antique mould, of world-wide fame and unique influence.<sup>1</sup> And since, between these two, you have chosen, in your kindness to me, a professional scholar and teacher, you might well expect from him
