THE PATRIARCHS

AS SETTING FORTH AND SETTING FORWARD

THE THINGS OF THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT.

CHAPTER I.

THE ACTUAL AS SYMBOLIZING THE REAL.

	PAGE
THE same things which are set forth directly in the Sermon on the Mount, are, in other portions of Holy Scripture , set forth indirectly, through the events of the Sacred History	3
Lively and attractive character of this historic teaching	4
Its necessity, as an Unfolder of our Practical, and as a friendly Antagonist of our Contemplative Life.....	ib.
The Reconciliation of these two Lives, directly and fully set forth in the Sermon on the Mount.....	7
The Sacred History works together with such direct Teachings, in virtue of the MOULDING PROVIDENCE under which its events took place, and of the OVERRULING INFLUENCE under which they were recorded.....	8
In virtue of its SYMBOLIC CHARACTER , it presents the Real and Eternal, through the Actual and Transitory.....	ib.
Through the unfolding of one Nation's Life, it sets forth the normal unfolding of the Humanity.....	9
We learn from St. Paul, concerning certain fundamental Facts of the Patriarchal History, that their SYMBOLIC , are even opposed to their direct Meanings.....	10
As they are Historic, the Things of the Patriarchs have actually set forward the Spiritual Realities to which they correspond: as they are Symbolic, the same Things are ordained for the continual and effectual setting forth and setting forward of those nobler Realities	11

Man, as unrenewed, or as partially renewed, is capable, in God's Order, of symbolizing Man, as renewed in the Spirit of his Mind ;	12
And so of Symbolizing the Humanity, both as perfected once for all in the Person of Christ, and as ever being perfected through Christ and the Spirit	13
In that inaugural Perfecting, Christ having been more than conqueror, the inward conflict is manifested, only or chiefly in its great crisis and agony ; whilst with us, under the Dispensation of the Spirit, the Wrestling by which we must overcome the World, is within rather than without ; and is so set forth, through the Symbolic Import of the Old Testament History	14
The most important result we can derive from this History, as it is a narrative of Actual Events , is a conviction that our genuine human LIFE, Individual, Family, and National, cannot be rightly and permanently constituted, excepting in the Name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost—not that is, without the Incarnation and Suffering of Christ, and the consequent shedding forth of the Spirit.....	16
The conviction thus derived from its historical events, though important, is only negative : whereas the Things set forth to us through the same History, as it has a Symbolic Import , are Positive and Spiritual Realities of the very highest Order	ib
This to be proved, from the Patriarchal, as the germ of the Old Testament History : and, since the Name, the Character and the Life of each Patriarch will be found to set forth diversely, the very same things, their Symbolic Names to be first and chiefly considered	17
Advantages of this Method, and its consistency with the New Testament teachings ;	18
—exemplified.....	19
The inspired Interpretations in the New Testament of such persons or facts in the Old as, being in themselves important, are also inseparable from its continuous history, have at various times called forth the efforts of Theologians to reconcile these interpreted portions with their uninterpreted context	20
No earnest student of the Old Testament can doubt that a pregnant analogy obtains, between its unfolding of the Jewish National Life, and the unfolding of our own Christian and Spiritual Life: though he may, as to the precise nature of this analogy	21

Characteristics of this Analogy, and of the Teaching involved in it	22
The Thing to be done, and the Way of doing it, which this Teaching sets forth; compared with the Object, and the Method, of Plato	23
In this indirect unfolding of the Humanity, under historic Forms, all is implied in the first symbolic Name ABRAHAM; even as, in its direct unfolding on the Mount, under the Forms of its proper Blessedness and Law, all is implied in the first Word FATHER, of the Prayer which reconciles these	24

CHAPTER II.

ABRAHAM ISAAC JACOB

How the great end of man's effectual Reconciliation with his Father and his Brethren is generally set forth and set forward:—1st through Abraham	25
2nd „ Isaac	27
3rd „ Jacob	34
Spiritual Import, in this Symbol and throughout Scripture, of Marriage	35
Spiritual Import of Rebekah,—of Leah and Rachel, as consistent with that of Hagar and Sarah given by St. Paul, Gal. iv....	36
Deep meaning and practical importance, of this Third Unfolding of the Symbol, in Jacob, Leah and Rachel	38
Not only have man's noblest strivings, after the Constitution and Unfolding of a complete Human Society, signally failed; but even the Jewish Polity, though constituted by God Himself, has perished in like manner.....	40
And thus we are again led towards the all-important Truth, that only in the Revealed Name and Imparted Power of God—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost—only, that is, in the Spiritual Reality here finally and practically Symbolized, through Jacob and his Family, can this great Object be effectually accomplished	ib.
How the Gentile Wisdom contributed towards this Object	41

Plato's Conception, both of the Thing to be done, and of the Method of doing it, though ideally as well as practically inadequate, has positive value even for us.....	42
—as clearly presenting the fundamental Truth, that the Elements which constitute the Individual Mind, are essentially the same, with those which constitute the complete Human Society	43
—a Truth implied throughout the Sermon on the Mount, specially in the threefold Law of the Name, the Kingdom and the Will; the First Command, in each of these several Laws, guarding the Individual—the Third, the Complete Social or National Life.....	44
Plato's hardly less instructive failure, in wholly excluding from his Scheme, the Family Life; which, in the Sermon on the Mount and its threefold Law, and also in the Patriarchal Symbol, is central and paramount	45
This Symbol further corresponds with the Sermon on the Mount, by really and effectually setting forth the Individual Mind also, under the Forms of the Family Life.....	47
Relations of the Patriarchal Symbols to ordinary language	49
Exemplified in the Name of Abraham, and of Isaac,	50
—and of Jacob.....	55
—as compared with the Symbolic Name of Naphtali.....	56
These first three Symbolic Names, as they present the Divine OBJECT of our Worship, correspond to the Address, Πάτερ ἡμῶν, ὁ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς of the Prayer	57
Reasons for considering the Patriarchal Symbol, chiefly as it is a SYMBOL OF THE NAME	58
Deep spiritual Import, and Bearing on the Doctrines of Justification and Sanctification, of the Names of Isaac and Jacob...	60
With what diversity of Method and Object, these doctrinal Verities are set forth, through the Names of the younger Patriarchal Brotherhood	63
That we may enter effectually into these deeper Teachings, whether of the Divine or of human Wisdom, we must habitually realize the Truth, that the complete Human Society consists of the very same fundamental Elements as the Individual Mind	64
We have seen the manifold witness borne to this Principle, on Sinai, on the Mount, and by the Gentile Philosophy; and
