TO THEODORE ROOSEVELT

A vivid figure standing out in as bold relief against the background of American life to-day as did that of Captain John Smith in the affairs of the infant nation at Jamestown.

THEY found not pearls and gold
For which they came in quest
 Across the trackless deep—
The Jamestown pioneers of old—
Instead, the priceless pearl of Freedom, vast,
 For aye to keep;
The virgin gold of boundless Opportunity,
Which grows with ev'ry age more grand.
 A golden harvest any man may reap
Who will. Yes, these the jewels rich
The Jamestown settlers found
 Within the wilderness safe-keep.

JULIA WYATT BULLARD.
