Exercise II.

1. By what test does Mill distinguish Induction proper from what he regards as spurious forms of it ?
2. 'Simple ideas are incapable of Definition.' Examine this statement.

4. Put the following arguments into logical form :—
  - (1) 'The University of Edinburgh has the right of giving degrees to women ; for it has by charter all the rights of any Scotch University, including therefore those of the University of Glasgow. But Glasgow has this right, because it was formed on the model of Bologna, where degrees were given to women.'
  - (2) 'He believes that in a recent period we are right to require a great deal of evidence, but that in a remote period less is necessary. . . . It follows immediately from this principle that Hesiod's "Theogony" is trustworthy history.'

5. Show that both the Method of Residues and that of Concomitant Variations are modifications of the Method of Difference.

6. Examine the following :—

(1) The ravages of the cattle plague proportionately raise the price of the surviving beasts, so that the natural working of the law of price sufficiently compensates the farmers for their loss.

(2) All law is an abridgement of liberty, and consequently of happiness.

(3) 'Solvitur ambulando.'

7. Compare the theories of induction implied in the following statements :—

(2) 'Inductio est Enthymema quoddam, nempe syllogismus in Barbara, cujus minor reticetur.'

(3) 'Induction proceeds from the known to the unknown.'

8. Examine the following arguments :—

(1) If the idea of substance be grounded upon plain and evident reason, then we must allow a notion of substance, which comes not in by sensation or reflection : and so we may be certain of something which we have not by these ideas.

(2) Qui fortis est, idem est fidens : qui autem est fidens, is profecto non extimescit : atqui in quem cadit ægritudo, in eundem timor : ita fit ut fortitudini repugnet ægritudo.

- (3) His quidam signis atque hæc exempla secuti
Esse apibus partem divinæ mentis et haustus
Ætherios dixere ; deum namque ire per omnis
Terrasque tractusque maris, cælumque pro-

9. Explain 'abstract,' 'univocal,' 'categorical,' 'sub-

10. State and prove the rules of Sorites.

Exercise III.

1. Examine the following arguments :—

τονικὸς, ἢ οὐ ; ΓΟΡ. ναί. ΣΩ. οὐκοῦν καὶ ὁ τὰ μουσικὰ μουσικὸς ; ΓΟΡ. ναί. ΣΩ. καὶ ὁ τὰ ιατρικὰ ἱατρικὸς ; καὶ τᾶλλα οὕτω κατὰ τὸν αὐτὸν λόγον, ὁ μεμαθηκὼς ἕκαστα τοιοῦτός
ἐστὶ οἷον ἢ ἐπιστήμη ἕκαστον ἀπεργάζεται.
ΓΟΡ. πάνυ γε. ΣΩ. οὐκοῦν κατὰ τοῦτον τὸν
λόγον καὶ ὁ τὰ δίκαια μεμαθηκὼς δίκαιος ;
- (2) If 'to improve is to change, and to be perfect is to have changed often,' what hope can we entertain of those who oppose change ?
- (3) ὁ πᾶσι δοκεῖ τοῦτ' εἶναι φαινομένον. Therefore the more popular a doctrine the greater its truth.
- (4) Si meliora dies, ut vina, poemata reddit,
Scire velim, chartis pretium quotus arroget annus.

2. What are the limits of the method of Concomitant Variations ?
3. In what different cases does Logical analysis lead us to Propositions in which one of the Terms is itself a Proposition ?

4. 'Generalisation is not a process of mere naming, it is also a process of inference.' Explain this.

5. What is a 'verbal proposition'? Can it ever be of any use ?

6. How far is each one of the Syllogistic figures adapted to a particular kind of argument ?

(Aristotle.)

(2) Poetry must be either true or false: if the latter, it is misleading; if the former, it is disguised history, and savours of imposture as trying to pass itself off for more than it is. Some philosophers have therefore wisely
