NOTE.

The Collection of Books embraced in the following Catalogue is offered for sale to any individual, or library company, desirous of purchasing it entire, at the prices affixed. The classes of books contained in it consist of specialties which, as they are usually printed in small numbers, finally disappear from commerce. A considerable number of the volumes in the list are very difficult to obtain, and not a few of them are of extreme rarity.

The arrangement and classification of the Catalogue is in some instances inexact, owing to the inexperience of the compiler who was employed, and the same may be true of the alleged sizes and styles of binding, though of no serious importance. The titles, however, have been made sufficiently full to enable the reader to identify the works and ascertain the subject of them. No effort has been made to over-rate their condition or rarity, and the prices are thought to be below the value of the books at the present time, irrespective of the cost of the binding, which in many cases is new.
