IN STELLIGERORUM

Memoriam

They came in youthful ardour here, where we Follow their footsteps. Here like us they played
And worked ; like us had follies, that dismayed
Their shaven elders. Hence exultantly
Like us they encountered life, eager to see
Its prizes theirs. Unperfect, brave, they made
Our poor world better. Like them, unafraid,
May we at last merge in eternity.

From out their old New England, still pure
Of foreign taint, where in their dreamy past
They stand heroic, comes the courage now
That nerves us for the conflict we must know,
What nobler prize for who the trial endure
Than place in their companionship at last ?
