HOW TO USE OUR EYES AND HOW TO PRESERVE THEM.

By JOHN BROWNING, F.R.A.S., &c.

WITH 37 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Crown 8vo., 1s. ; Cloth, 1s. 6d.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Every one who cares about his eyesight should get this little book; those who think their eyesight of no particular moment can very readily dispense with it."—RICHARD A. PROCTOR, Esq., B.A., in Knowledge.

"This little volume should secure a wide circle of readers. We have been specially pleased with the many useful hints given by Mr. Browning regarding sight-preservation. The most interesting part of Mr. Browning's book, perhaps, is that which relates to the choice of spectacles and to those needs of the eye which demand their use. A vast number of useful hints are given regarding the use of spectacles, and the remarks on single eye-glasses may be commended to those who affect a fashionable craze. Altogether Mr. Browning's work teems with interest, and deserves perusal from its intrinsic interest, and from the amount of information which may be culled from its pages regarding the physiology of seeing."—Health.

"A valuable and really interesting handbook, giving the best of scientific teaching in the simplest and most expressive language. The aim is not to persuade or frighten people into wearing spectacles, but to aid them in forming a correct judgment as to when they are really wanted. Much excellent advice is given as to the selection of the best kind of glasses, and there are also numerous hints for preserving the eyesight."—Daily Chronicle.

"Mr. John Browning, F.R.A.S., gives sound advice, in a popular form, regarding the use and abuse of spectacles. The hints on the selection of spectacles, and the time when to begin to wear them, are calculated to be of great benefit to any who suffer from defective vision."—Christian World.

"'How to Use Our Eyes,' by John Browning, F.R.A.S., is a thoroughly practical little manual, likely to be of much use to persons with weak eyes. Being the result of years of technical experience, it contains a number of practical hints which wearers of spectacles and eye-glasses could probably not find in so complete a form in any other publication."—Graeco.

"We have thus gone through the list of subjects discussed in this most valuable contribution to a popular knowledge of how to use and not abuse our eyes. . . . We now leave Mr. Browning's excellent treatise, and feel assured that before long many thousands will be grateful to him for having enabled them to get for a shilling such a trustworthy guide how to preserve their sight."—Sole of Man Times.

"Gives many a useful hint to those who enjoy good eyesight and wish to preserve it, and gives the advice of an oculist to those obliged to wear spectacles and whose eyes are in any way affected. It is a useful little volume, written in a simple style which can be understood by all."—Full Mail Gazette.

"A most valuable little work, full of practical hints, which are of much wider application than many persons are aware of. Mr. Browning treats his subject with singular clearness, and brings the results of great experience to bear upon it."—The Rock.

IN general we should not be over-scrupulous about niceties of phrases, when the matter in hand is a dunce to be gibbeted. Speak out! or the person addressed may not understand you. He is to be hung; then hang him by all means, but make no bow when you mean no obeisance, and eschew the droll delicacy of the clown in the play:—
“Be so good, sir, as to rise and be put to death.”
