FREDERICK WILLIAM FABER

HYMNS

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1867, by
BRIDGMAN AND CHILDS,
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Massachusetts.

P R E F A C E.

AS the English editions of "Faber's Hymns" are quite expensive, and contain much that has no interest for any who are not members of his church, I have taken pains to exclude all that is sectarian from these pages, and have only culled that which will be dear to any heart desiring to "grow in the knowledge and love of God."

The few hymns by Faber that have already been published in such selections as "Hymns of the Ages" have met with so much favor, that I confidently anticipate an immediate and wide popularity for this selection, which includes all the best Hymns and Poems of the larger and more costly work, which has never been republished in this country.

PREFACE.

I have omitted here and there a verse, but have not in any case altered one word of the original text.

I feel sure that those who once read these pages will read them again with increasing delight and profit. It will prove a true friend in joy or sorrow, and will be a valuable gift, as it says so much that we all feel, yet cannot always so well express.
