THE ENGLISH SCHOLAR'S LIBRARY, ETC., NO. I; THE HISTORY OF REYNARD THE FOX PP. 1-119

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649511563

The English Scholar's Library, etc., No. I; The history of Reynard the Fox pp. 1-119 by William Caxton

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd. Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

WILLIAM CAXTON

THE ENGLISH SCHOLAR'S LIBRARY, ETC., NO. I; THE HISTORY OF REYNARD THE FOX PP. 1-119

Trieste

The English Scholar's Library, etc.

- S. - M

÷.

No. 1.

; •

.

The History of REYNARD the Fox.

•--

.

25

•

ļ

ļ

54 14

52 1892

22 第

*

35 35

The English Scholar's Library of Old and Modern Morks.

1.

12

l

4

÷

i.

1

The History of REYNARD the Fox.

TRANSCATED AND PRINTED BY

WILLIAM CAXTON.

June 1481.

Edited by EDWARDARBER, FS.A., etc.,

LECTURER IN ENGLISH LITERATURE ETC., UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

> SOUTHGATE, LONDON, N. 15 August 1878. No. 1. (All rights reserved.)

> > ۰.

CONTENTS.

0.50

The Personages,	&c., in t	his Hi	story			•••		ix-xi
Bibliography								xii
INTRODUCTION	•••	•••	•••			•••	105	ziil-zvi
	The b	istory	of re	ynart	the fo	oxe		1
The Table								1-3
The Prologue of	the Auth	01+++	•••			•••	•••	4

The Action of this History.	Υ.
-----------------------------	----

5-120

... Events anterior to the Action, together with the parables, tales, and other principal speeches, are set in Italic type.

[PART I.]

[Sect. i.] NOBLE, the King of all beas	ta, summous	s all ani	imals to	his c	pen C	ourt et	Whit	sun-
ude, at Stade				7				4	5
ISEGRIM complains of REYNARD'S trees									5
Coverors complains that REYNARD st									6
TIBERT defends REYNARD, and says ti	nat the pub	anag wa	5 10 16	""n-					•
The Faother relates how narrowly KY									•
GREMORET defends REVEARD. ISEG. NARD, at in the plaice, and also of the was seven years before her marriage. If RYWART had not beerned aright therefore ! COURTONS had stolen the	he fat flitch She was s his lesson, s pudding, w	of bace oon hea hould s hould shal	ne. Th ied then not R R U blame	al tre cof. YNA REY	She co She co RD his NARD	with E master if he	RSW neth beat has to	YND hat I him stolen goods from a thief? REYNAR. CHANTICLEER complains for the murd								has	7
bitten off				-	+++		4441		9
KING NOBLE retorts on GRIMPERT									II
They bury COPPEN with full honours,					ber m	emory
The King and his Council determine t	hot REYNAL	ro shail	be sen	tior		4-9	-		-
[Sect. ii.] BRUIN carries the summons He is however beguiled by the Fox, a LANTPERT. "a strong carpenter of grea	nd at last o	aught i	n a hai	Felov		in th		d of	11
castle				-	- Lu - T				73
All the parish attack the bear ; who, a	fter many b	lows, es	scapes,	nearly	dead,	down	the ri	iver, with the loss of his scalp, ears, and for					-		444		25
With great agony, he returns wentelin	g [rolling on	ver and	over a	rain]	to the	Court			18
[Sect. iii.] The King and his Council d	letermine to	send a	Second	10055	enget			-	19
TINEET is sent with the second message									10
Has an evil augury from "St. Martin'									19
TIBERT is also beguiled by REVNARD, LANTFART'S village, is sore beaten, a
			+++						90
He also returns wenteling to Court, by	subrise						+++		23
[Sect. iv.] GRIMBERT volunteers to sur	mmon his u	icie Rg	VNARD						93
And is well received by him at Mal y			0.00	200	1				24
REVNARD'S family life					1				94
On their way to the Court, REYNARD		self to (							25
He confesses that he has trespassed ag and CHANTICLEBE. He has claude (1) calling him Eme [friend] though h made him a month taken he himself h be tied to the beilrope, he was almost	red the Kin he was not scame one,	ing and ing of where (	the Que his kin a) by hi	1 and 1 cam	He beg t at E ting 1:	nciled Imare, EGRII	ISEG.	et to	2.17/

.

1

CONTENTS.

FAGE whereby ISRER (M received many a stroke, and (4) in the larder of the rickest priest of Ver-medoos, through which he was to stoned as to be thrown into a ditch outside the village as dead. (a) and afterwards in a hen house, where he was althoust smitlen to death, "I have brought him thus in many a jeopardy, more than I can now reckon. I should find many more, if I bethought myself well, which I shall tell you hereafter. Also I have Prospassion with his wife" 25 GRIMBERT imposes a triffing penance, which REYNARD promises to observe [but nothing more is heard of it.] ... ·R more is near of it.) Novertheless journeying by a Cloister of Black Nuns, REVNAED statches at a fat young capon, for which GWMBERT rebuking him, he offers to say a paternoster for the souls of all poultry and geers he had betrayed and stolen from those holy nuns. Nevertheless the Fox has ever e towards the poultry. 29 .... *** .... .... .... .... .... ---29 20 31 31 34 31 could carry. These riches had been stolen, and if they had not been scoren, is wrong more cast the King his life... The false tale of the Fox, of the Actitions treason of his own father, his nephew GRIMBERT, 35 The false tale of the Fox, of the Activious treasons of his own father, his negheus GRIMBERT, ISFGRIM and TIBERT to make BRUIN the King How his father found King EMBRICK's treasure, and hid is How the free complicators met between the Ghent and the thorpe called Vfte How the GRIMBERT, dennk waith the the flat to his wife SLOEPCADE; who told it to ERMELIN, who told it to REYNARD How he watched his father to find where the treasure was. How he watched his father discovered the the flat he was hanged kimself: and so the con-pierces for want of that mome, was broken 36 ..... 36 37 37 39 spinory for want of that money, was broken. The Queen hoping to win this treasure moves the king to forgive REYMAN his misdeeds: who fells them that it is in Kreiner pit in a wood named Hultierlo in the milderness on the 39 Who tells them that it is we want to be a set of the place (but REYNARD asks nothing of him about Kywast being questioned, knows of that place (but REYNARD asks nothing of him about the treasure.] 43 the treasure.] Ravinate would go there with the King, but the Architecton having but him in the Pople curve for having persuaded ISEGRIM to run out of religion, he must go on a pilgrimage to Rome 43 [Sect. vi.] The King proclaims REYNARD's pardon .... Who secures the arrest of BRUIN and ISSUERM .... ## Who secures the arrest of BRUIN and ISECRIM And by the Queen's favour, obtains for his pilgrimage a square foot of BRUIN's skin "on his ringe" for a scrip, and two shoes torn off from both isEcRIM and Exewynu The King compels BRUIN to bless RRYWARD's mail and staff as "helongeth to a pilgrim" .... The King with his whole Court start REVNARD on his pilgrimage ... Who then goes on his way, accompanied by KYWART and BRLLIN as far as Mal y perdu. #B [Sect. vi.] Arrived there, REVNAND leaves BELLIN outside and invites KWART inside Where he is slain by REVNARD, and is catenby him and his family; all but his head Narrating his successful beguitements to EAMBLINE, they coussel that the Fox shall give over his pilgrimage, and stay at home. BELLIN, still outside and angry at KYWART's long delay, is beguiled by REVNARD; who sends him hack to the Court with KYWART's head in the sorip and a letter as from himself which brings him. Dance OLEWEN, and all his family to death The King, opening the scrip and reading the letter, discovers his deception; releases Bartin and Iscottia, and for a reward gives Beattin and all his lineage to them for a prey for ever Then feasted the King twelve days longer for the love of the Beat and of the Woll, so glad was he of the making of this peace []. 48 40 51 53 54

[PART II.]

[Sect. i.] At this greatfeast, came all manner of beasts. About not LAPREEL the Cony complains to him that REVAARD, standing	hefo	the eight re his t	th add Castle	litional door li	day ke a pilgrim, tore off his car and made four great holes in his head CORBANT the Rook complains that REVNAED bit off the head	of St	ANPER	CK his	wife,	and	54
then eat her so hungrily that he left only a few feathers						55
All the Court quake at the wrath of the King at these misdeeds						57

vi

CONTENTS.

14

5

T

The King will send no special messenger to the Fox [Soct, ii.] GREMMERT is great sorrow and anger, runs the highway towards Mal y perdu He sparse notifies bush nor haw, but he hastens so sorely that he did sweat "They go to the burgh and all the family sup on the pigcons," as far as it would stered. They go to store, except the Fox who was all heavy, and lay and sighed and sorrowed how he might best excuse himself On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt On the morrow early he rooms [[d7] the castle and goes towards the Conrt Mark periodized in [Exterp Amer desci 14] to this charge. And also the the great daca the practiced an ISENCH as to the red more that had the price of her fool worldes on her foot, obtic more areau her during the goes and is a throng mails REWHAND's view of human life REWHAND's view of human life REWHAND's view of human life Mark and the well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck? REWHAND's view of human life Mark GREMERS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of Mark GREMERS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of Mark GREMERS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of Mark GREMERS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free these tillings had 1 met doen in the converts of REWHARS T brought me free thes	File Queen bays,	H Many I	the ath	ar side	1.40								1
Field, II.) GRIMBERT in great sorrow and anget, runs the highway towards Mal y perdule the space meinher but not haw, but he hastens is sorely that he did sweat. He finds REVEARD that he did sweat its news with a coorsume on the period. They go to the burgh and all the family sup on the pigcons, "as far as it would stretch." Interp go to these, except the For who was all heavy, and lay and sighed and sorrowed how he might best excuss himself. On the moreour early he could like the family sup of the pigcons, "as far as it would stretch." They go to the set, GRIMBERT to ahrive him a second time. He confesses to all the moritors which previous like it fittiers have been laid to this charge. And alto the period facility for the road mean that had the price of her food worites on her food work we do not seew that where haid to this charge. And alto the period facility food, which were and the the the fittiers have been laid to the price of her food worites on a second time that y deall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." Revenans outly excuses himself to the King. The King roples, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." Revenans outly excuses himself to the King. "What CRIMBERT brought me first these liding had I not been in the command of the court for any what la do for service. That M ARTHY the Age, sub has been Advocate to the Binkog of Charer's these liding had I had been in the command of the down and what la do for service. Then M ARTHY the Age, sub has been Advocate to the Binkog of Charer's the fact second and their faile court in the King." The King roples, "I would do the for the Court, and eccure yourself." That Mark a down, and their faile court and what la do for service. The M ARTHY the Age, sub has been Advocate to the Binkog of Court, and eccure yourself." The M Advocate to the Binkog of Court, and the for the former's the failed work had court and their faile court and the far second and the for the former's and the for the former's the failed wo	sore punished ac	es that if	f Rava to his t	ARD C	ome : ies	- 164	44.8						m be
He spares neither bush nor haw, but he hastens so sorely that he did sweat He fords Rrwares standing, with two young pipeons: who receives his news with a coo assurance, "Puff," dear nephew, "is there nothing else?" They go in the burgh and all the family sup on the pigeons: who receives his news with a coo assurance, "Puff," dear nephew, "is there nothing else?" They go in the burgh and all the family sup on the pigeons, "as far as it would stretch." They go to the burgh and all the family sup on the pigeons, "as far as it would stretch." They go to alexp, except the Fox who was all heavy, and lay and sighed and sorrowed how he might best excuse himself." On the way, he asks Genvesnert to shrive him a second time. He confesses to all the matters which presting of an ISEURIM as to the real more that had the price of her fool twritten and foot, which was new shed with iron and six strong nasis. RevNARD view of human life. [Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court RevNARD replies, "I thusk well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." RevNARD replies, "I have be also there they shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." RevNARD replies, "I have a shall the the King. [Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court RevNARD replies, "I have a shall the the the stand and her in the her here here RevNARD replies, "I have a start the start ling had I was the start doing on the keat A and wais ta do for serveon. Then M ART IN the Age, who has been doing on the keat Bibbo of Camerah these nine gears fast, met toilt me I had win my own assission of what L APREEL and COREANT had done, and their faite complaints to the King." We not of row of the result and the sharest. I way and dig and these nine gears fast, met toilt me Age and dring you an absolution against hit woill. Go to Court, where you chall fast first Aff and they work fast they thus may have ne right, send to ne wight and day to the Court of Kin				000000002				***
They go to the burgh and all the family sup on the pigcons, "as far as it would stretch "Integ to to the picet, except the Fox who was all heavy, and lay and sighed and sorrowed how high thest excuse himself On the morrow early he rooms [left] the castle and goes towards the Court On the morrow early he rooms [left] the castle and goes towards the Court Do the morrow early he rooms [left] the castle and goes towards the Court On the morrow early he rooms [left] the castle and goes towards the Court Market previously in the liftstory have been kaid to his charge. And alts to the great deceive the tractited on 1520KH as to the red more that had the price of her fool worldwards on the more look, which worldwards as to the red more that had the price of her fool worldwards on the more look, which worldwards as the the ling "Rewnan's toutly excuses himself to the King "The King roplies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." When CRIMERE brought me first these tidings had I not been in the converts of the Church I had worldward tarrying have come to the Court ! but I went doing on the keald, and wist not what is do for servers. Then MARTIN the Age, subh has been Advocate to the Elhody of Comerk these into goars paid, mol world me I told him (my own version) of what LAPREEL and COREANT had done, and their failse complicates to the King "Ma Afe said," 'is to the Court, and excuse yourself" "As springed," said i," 'hen and sailters, my these children, and many unors of eur lineage, subhall glady to semewhat for their frietward and has been the state of the Arch ductor, and hey 'he more darged and goest if will. Go to Court, where you shall be the faile darge and have tood you could be the court and have the failed and day to the Court of Rooms', and hey the the state of your more if all this worlds seem as the state of the King "As a friend". Said if '' that may not be for the reduction of the world duct the Market state in the long the state of price (Clabass	He spares neithe	r bush n	or haw	, but h	e hast	ens so :	sorely	that h	e did s	weat
On the morrow early he rooms [[47] the coache and goes towards the Court On the may, he axis Gravismurt to a brive him a second time. He conferess to all the matters which presciously in the History have been laid to his charge. And also to the great denois the practice on SEUCURI as to the real mare that had the 'frice of her fool worlden on her [20], which was near shad with iron and six strong nails REWNARD view of human life Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "Think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be not your neck." REWNARD replies, "I think well that the shall this yell on the pole that the pole of the Chart, I had without inrying have come to the Court. The Ale and the shall be a shall b	They go in to the They go to sleep	e burgh s ), except	the Fo	the far	nily s	up on t	he pige	ions,	as fai	as it	would.	stretch	1
On the way, he asies Gensenuer to shrive him a second time. He confesses to all the motions which personally in the History Assee here laid to his charge. And also to the great desci- the practiced on SEUKIM as to the red mare that had the price of her fool workless on her fool, which was new should not and six strong noils. REVENAND's view of human life Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court REVENAND price, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REVENAND replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." When GRIMBET brought mee first these lidings had I not been in the consense of the Gauerk, I had without farrying have come to the Court: I not I went holing on the keath, and wist not what to do for zervow. Then M ATIM the Ake, such has been Advocate to the Bishop of Comercik there into genry past, met with the I fold him [Iny own version] of what LAPREEL and COREANT had done, and their faise complaints to the King." "Ass, friend," said J, " that may not be. For the Archdeacon has put me in the Pope's curse "May count," and the two solution against hit will. Go to Court, where you had! for May count, and bring you an aboution against hit will. Go to Court, where you had! for MILENAND to so overcharged that you may have ne right, send to me night and day to the Court, and bring you an aboution against hit will. Go to court, where you had! for MILENAND to so overcharged that for gene, will go a to ensight and day to the Court of Rome; and the mekange their friends" "And if you all bring the in about the for gene, will go a be so overcharged that, and what ye way the for his rows and the first of the for My lood, the King to when the we have thereafy and with yerse years as the as goopel. A for the for the King the head-it if King or Omer. Will for Mass-I shall bring them all the fourth of the first the for the for the for the for the for spoke so stoutly in the sees, both poor and fich, were all still when	On the morrow of	e numseit	nooms [	Lefel ch		de and	anes to	ward	the C	ourt	***	•••	***
[ast, work is outs new shed with iron and six strong notifs [Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court [Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court [Raynako stoutly excuses himself to the King [The King replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." Raynako troutly excuses himself to the King [When GRIWARD replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." Raynako trought me first these tidings had in at been in the constant of the Court, I had without farrying have come to the Court; but I went doing on the health and wait and what no for normo. Then MA PATIN the Afe, who has been Advocate to the Bishop of Camerik these nine years had, met with me I had not may own version! of what LAPREEL and CORBANT had done, and their fulse complaints to the King. "Ass. friend," said 1, "that may not be. For the doublecon has put me in the Pope's curse?" "Ass. friend," said 1, "that may not be. For the doublecon has put me in the Pope's curse?" "Ass. friend," said 4, "be not ofraid. I waderstand this business. I soill find hear and bring you on adsolution against his will. Go to curt, where you shall find RUENAW my wife, her two siters, my three children, and This was Ruynamp's ball find the four of the Court. We my work, we would be the court of the internet of the King?" "And if you be so ourcharged that you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Fope's curse. For the Court. Wife or Mam-1 chail fraing them all the four strate. For the Court of PURE GOLD has my nices for his concubies." "And if you be so ourcharged for their, is alwayed; and with great gladness came kither, and have to do you and the advection of the King. "And if you may have a should be the great scale with a so shreed. You, he for the Court has a profile of the King." "And if you be so ourcharged for the Court	On the way, he a which previously	isks Gui	MERRY Histor	to shri	been .	n a sec laid to	ond tit kis ch	ne. 1 rrge.	Le cont And	esses elso ti	o the g	he ma reat d	tters
Sect. iii.] With such manner of talking they come walking into the Court Reverse stantly excuses himself to the King The King replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REVMAND replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REVMAND replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REVMAND replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." REVMAND replies, "I think well that yes that it diags had I not been in the termsore of the Church, I had without farrying have come to the Court ; but I went doing on the health. Bishop of Camerik these nine years had, met with me I told kim imy own version] of what LAPREEL and CORBANT had done, and their fulse complaints to the King." "A fas, friend," said 1," that may not be. For the dochdeacon has put me in the Pope's curse "May, quarin," said 1," that may not be. For the dochdeacon has put me in the Pope's curse "May, quarin," said the," be not ofraid. I waderstand this business. I woll list the Arch May, quarin," said the," be not ofraid. I waderstand this business. Courd of Reme; and be us have have have have have have doring of an integer, who will gladly do somewhat for their rivends" "And i you be so overkarged that you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Pope's curse. For the Cardinal of FURE GOLD has my nices for his concubies." "My lord, the King I when fare have have have have have have have hav	Joot, which was i	new shod	t with s	iron as	ed six	strong	nails	***		***		***
REVERENT STOLED EXCESSION AND ADDRESS AND ADDRESS ADDR		-112 N.R.S.	S. 2015 A.	0.000	10.201			1000	-123 A 12				1.44
The King replies, "I think well that ye shall this day for your works be hanged by your neck." When CRIMBET brought i were condemned to death, yet ought ye to hear my words out. When CRIMBET brought my first these tidings had I not been in the converse of the Church, I had without tarrying have come to the Court: but I were doing on the headh, and wist not what to do for varrow. Then MARTIN the Ape, who has been Advocate to the Binkop of Camerik these nine genre paid, and woll in Me I hold him imy own versional of what LARRELL and COREANT had done, and their fails compliants to the King "Also, friend," said I, "that may not be. For the Archideacon has put me in the Pope's curre "May, causin," said A, "the not of read. J waderstand this besines. I will cits the Archi deucen, and bring you an advolution against his will. Go to Court, where you shall fina WILENAW, way will, he two sitters, my three children, and many noors of our lineage, suka will gladly do somewhat for their friends" "And if you be so anercharged that you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Rome; and let we have knowledge thereof; and [This was Rwrnamp's boldest lie] all those that be in the lawd—is if King or Oneen, Wile or Man—I shall firm, shall day to the Court of Rome; and let we have knowledge thereof; and write for his concubins"." My lord, the King I when I heard this, I lawghed; and wilk great gleadness came hilther, dud have folgy and if truth." All the beasts, both poor and rich, were all still when the Pox spoke so stoutly. LAPREEL and Comeant seeage from the Court, saying." GOD grant that this fell murdreer may fare wil : He can beyrap and cover his falsehood that his words seems at rue as gospid. Hereof knoweth no man than we, how should we bring witnesses? I his better we wyke Aler] and depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, hough there were five of us, we could not defend outworke is has weight and a sell and the there of howeth to man. Thus me, how should we brin							walkir	g inte	the C	ourt	10.552	1.064
I told kim [my own version] of what LAPREEL and COREANT had done, and their false complaints to the King """. Also, Friend, "Go to the Court, and excuse yourrelf" "A los, Friend, "Go to the Court, and excuse yourrelf" "A los, Friend, "said 14, " be not ofraid. I waderstand this business. I collicits the Arche Souces, and bring you an absolution against hit will. Go to Court, where you shall find the ULENAW way will, her two sites you may have no right, send to me night and day to the ULENAW way will, her two sites you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Rome; and the my will, he two sites you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Rome; and let me have have haveledge thereof; and [This was Ruynamp's boldest hield like the this to in the load—is it King or Duren, Wijle or Man—I chail fring where all its the four the load—is it King or Duren, Wijle or Man—I chail form all in the Eopit curse. For the Cardinal of PURE GOLD has my nice for his concenter with the fourt of the send to may have all works prove that this fell murdterer may fare will. The can bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as gospil. LAPREEL and Consart rescape from the Court, saying." GOD grant that this fell murdterer may fare will the an bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as gospil. Sective The King's sake, to parlon and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, Meeg and Geest har when the Xwart's death.	The King replies REYNARD replies When GRIMNI Church, 1 had a and wist not wh	"I this , Thong RT brow without i at to do,	ak well ah J ane ught m tarryin far sar	that y re cons te first g have row. 2	e shal temne t then come Then	I this d ad to de e tidin, to the MART	Court N the	; but	I wen	t doli	e centra ing' on	the he	ath.
compliaints to the King The App mind, ""Go to the Court, and excuse powers!" "Alsa, friend," said 1, "that may not be. For the Archideacon has put me in the Pope's curse? "Nay, counts," said A, "be not ofraid. I waderstand this busines. I suill cite the Archi foucen, and bring you an absolution against his will. Go to Court, where you shall find RUEENAW my wife, her two sisters, my three children, and many more of our lineage, wha RUEENAW my wife, her two sisters, my three children, and many more of our lineage, wha RUEENAW my wife, her two sisters, my three children, and many more of our lineage, wha RUEENAW my wife, her two sisters, my three children, and many more of our lineage, wha "And if you be so our charged that you may have no right, tend to me might and day to the RUEENAW is the in the lawd—is the King or Omeen. Wife or Man—I shall frame the foods to the Cardend of FURE GOLD has my nice for his concubins." My love, the King I when I heard this, I lawghed; and with great cleadness came hither, and have food you all trutk." All the beasts, both poor and rich, were all still when the Pox spoke so stoutly. LAPEREL and Commany escape from the Court, usying, "GOD grane that this fell mardener may fare wil! I le can bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as the ago spok- Hereof knoweth no man than we, how should we bring witnesses? It is better we wyke farel and depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him. It is so shreed. Yea, shough there were five of us, we could mad thereives to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to partion and forgive [] LAPEREL and Commant Surgert and Beuth were wood found] in themeselves to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to partion and forgive [] LAPEREL and Commant Surgert and Beuth were wood found] in themeselves to use these theo escape from the Court The first standard Beuth Wolf and the Beut are gived the spech an behalf of REVARD. The King's rejoinde	Isishop of Camer	n# Inese	mine ye	art pa	TAR	el totta	me C		wr ha	1 Jan		16-12	follow.
The Ape snid, "its to the Court, and excuse poursel" "Also, friend," said 1, "that may not be. For the Arkhdeacon has put me in the Pole's curst," "Nay, courin," and he, " be not afraid. I understand this besiness. I soull cits the Arkh deaces, and bring you an absolution against his will. Go to Court, where you shall find KUENAW way alfs, her two sites, my three children, and many unore of our lineage, auka multi gladly do somewhat for their friends." "And if you be so our-knowed their private you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Rome; and let us have knowledge thereof; and [This was Ruwanpi's boldest hie all those that be in the land—it is King or Omeen, Wife or Man—I chail bring them all in the Pole's curse. For the Cardinal of FURE GOLD has my nices for his concentses." My lord, the King i under i heard this, I laughed; and with great gladness came kither, and have fold you all truth." All the beasts, both poor and tich, were all still when the You spoke so stoutly	complaints to the	c Kine	10000	1022010			C 22 C 2
Alsa, Jriena, "said 1," that may not be. For the Archaescon has put me to the Pope's curst. "May, countin," said As," "be not of prod. J sudderstand this besines. I suill cite the Archaescon, and bring you an absolution against his will. Ge to Court, where you shall find fouces, and bring you an absolution against his will. Ge to Court, where you shall find the UKENAW my Wolfs, her two sites response children, and many more of our lineage, suka MUESIAW my Wolfs, her two sites you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Rome; and let me have haveledge thereof; and [This was Ruvnamp's boldest lie] all those that be in the land—is if King or Oneen, Wife or Man—I shall fring them all to the Pope's curse. For the Cardinau of FURE GOLD has my nice for his concubins". My lord, the King I when I heard this, I laughed; and with great gleaderse came kither, and have foid you all truth." All the beasts, both poor and rich, were all still when the Fox spoke so stoutly. LAPREEL and Comean's escape from the Court, saying, "GOD grant that this fell murderer may fare evil ! He can bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as gospil- thereof knoweth to man than we, how should we bring witnessers? It is better we wylek Arej and depart than that we should hod a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, hough there were five of us, we could not defend ourselves : but would slay us all". Stront N and Bults were wood (mad] in themselves to see thes two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to pardon and forgive (] LAPREEL and so is great dread and here hand him; but the Wolf and the Beu are gid It happens well for the Fox that Dame Ruxersaw the She Apewas there Her first speech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rejoinder. Her second apsech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The King's rejoinder. Her second apsech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Armat and Doneastration. The King sisid. "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can he ex	The Ate said. "	Go to the	e Conri	t. and	ETCHS	T YONTS	alf"	3120	923			1.00
"And if you be so overcharged that you may have no right, send to me night and day to the Court of Reme ; and let use have knowledge thereof; and [This was Ruwamp's boldest he all there that be in the land—is if King or Oneen, Wife or Man—I chail forms them all in he Popie curse. For the Cardinal of PURE GOLD has my nice for his concubins "	deaton, and brie RUKENAW my	wife, her	m aðso Etnið sj	lution leters,	again my th	nst his ree chi	will.	Go to and n	Cowrite	t, whe tore of	re you our lis	shall ncage,	find
My lovel, the King I woken I heard this, I laughed ; and with great gladness trans hither, and have fold you all trutk". All the beasts, both poor and rich, were all still when the Yox spoke so stoutly LAPEREL and Commany escape from the Court, saying, "GOD grans that this fell marderer may fare evil ! He can bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as gospie. Hereof knoweth no man than we, how should we bring witnesses? It is better we wyke Aler! and depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, though there were five of us, we could not defend outselves ; but would sky us all"  Suggrv and Bauth were wood favad jin themselves to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to partion and forgive (] LAPEREL and Comman. "Suggrv and Bauth were wood favad jin themselves to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to partion and forgive (] LAPEREL and Comman. "Suggrv and Bauth were wood favad jin themselves to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to partion and forgive (] LAPEREL and Commany The King then charges him with KwaAr's death Then is REVNARD sore afraid. He wists not what to say. He is at his wits' end, and looks about him pitcously. But no man profilers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and this so that all hear him j but the Wolf and the Beat are glad  The King's rejoinder. Her first speech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rejoinder. Her second apseech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Man that delivered a Serient from peril of death She summons all the firstends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [Indiat see should now rall a political demonstration] The King said, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can he excue himself of that is laid against him ' The King said, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can he excue himself of that is laid against him ' The ward, and brang using any judge no further than	"And il you ha	mewhat	for the	ir frie	nuis "			Q64		144
All the beasts, both poor and rich, were all still when the Fox spoke so stouty. LAPREEL and Commany rescape from the Court, saying, "GOD grant that this fell murderer may fare evil ! He can be wrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as gospie. Hereof knowsth no man than we, how should we bring witnesses? It is better we wyke Aleri and depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, though there were five of us, we could not defend ourselves ; but would sky us all" Liscort wand BRUIN were wood found in themselves to use these two escape from the Court The Fox offers for the King's sake, to pardon and forgive (] LAPREEL and COMMANT Sect. iv. The King then charges him with KiwaAr's death Then is REVNARD sore afraid. He wists not what to say. He is at his wits' end, and looks about him pitcously. But no man profiers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and highs so that all hear him; but the Wolf and the Bear are glad It happens well for the Fox that Dame RUKENAW was been the Her first speech on behalf of REVNARD Her second appech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The King's rejoinder. Her second appech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Aramble of a Man that delivered a Serfent from peril of death She summons all the first said from further than your men give verdict". The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can he excue himself of that is laid against him ? The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can he excue himself of that is laid against him? Sect. v.] The Fox ceries, Alas ! what say ye? Is KYWART dead 1 And where is BELLIN the Ram gain for I chall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairest loaring: that iter man heart, and bring unyiel out of this danger	Court of Rome;	and let	me hav	e know	u may olodge	there there	no righ	d (Th	ul to m 16 Was	e nigh Ravn	and ARP's	day to boldes	the the
LAPRENT and COMMANT Except from the Court, saying, "GOD grant that this fill murdhered may fare evil : He can bewrap and cover his falsehood that his words seem as true as geopel. Hereof knoweth no man than we, how should we being witnesses? It is better we wyle Alerj and depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, hough there were five of us, we could not defend ourselves : hut would shay us all" swort man depart than that we should hold a field and fight with him; he is so shrewd. Yea, hough there were five of us, we could not defend ourselves : hut would shay us all" swort man defens for the King's sake, to parion and forgive (] LAPRENT and COMENT Sect. iv.] The King then charges him with NYWART's death Then is REYNARD sore afraid. He wists not what to sav. He is at his wis' end, and looks boot him piceusly. But no man proffers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and sights so that all hear him; but the Wolf and the Beet are glad It happens well for the Fox that Dame RUKENAW the She Ape was there Her first speech on behalf of REYNARD The King's rojonder "Its Farable of Man that delivered a Serfert from peril of death She summons all the firends and kin of the Fox to the unmber of farty Tukat we should new rall a political demonstration] The King said, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can he excuse himself of that is laid using thin !"." REYNARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine and! I have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine yea, and bring forth the fairest learing: that were man heart, and bring unyelf out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Fox criss, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART doad! And where is BELLIN the Ram (Easen, as he well knew, by BROW and Isagrent). What brought he to you when her have and gains him? For I delivered weak him three guell . Make they for the row of the row send ( Easen, as he well knew, by BROW and Isagrent). What brought he to you when her have and gains? For I delivered who him three guell .	the Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin	For the	+ Card	inal of	FUR	there Queen, E Gol.	no righ f; and Wife D has i	il, sen d [Th or Ma ny nii	d to m is was sm—1 i scefor	e nigh Rnvn shall l his co	t and Anp's bring s neudin	day to boldes kem a	the the Un mough there were nive of us, we could not detend ourselves i have would shay us all	the Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin have told you all	For the g I when truth	e Card I hear	inal of rd this,	FUR	y have there Queen, E GOL sched ;	no righ f; and Wife D has i and w	it, sen t (Th or Mi ny nii ith gr	d to m is was sm-1 we for wat glo	e nigh Ruvn skall l his co ulness	d and ARP's bring t cubin came b	day to boldes kem a	the the Un
The Fox offers for the King's sake, to pardon and forgive [] LAPRERL and COREAST [Sect. iv.] The King then charges him with KYWART's death Then is REVARD sore afraid. He wists not what to say. He is at his wits' end, and looks about him pitcously. But no man proffers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and him pitcously. But no man proffers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and his so that all hear him; but the Wolf and the Best are glad He instructed the fox that Dame RUKERAW the She Ape was there Her first peech on behalf of REVARD The King's rejoinder Her second speech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Mon that delivered a Serferst from peril of death She summons all the first had and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what we should now all a political demonstration] PraveRL says. "Site, you may judge no further than your men give verdict" The King still, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can be excue himself of that is laid against him ? Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART dead I And where is BELLIN the form (Earen, as he well knew, by BROIN and Informed).	the Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin have fold you all All the beasts, bu 1-APREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Hereof knoweth [Arel and depart	For the of tooles itruth oth poor MEANT of HEANT of HEANT of HEANT of HEANT of HEANT	and rices everape than the than the	that of rd this, from the and co- we, ho would h	PUR I las the Co ver hi w sho	y have thereo Queen, E GOL sphed ; till who nurt, sa s falseh rold we field av	no right of ; and Wife D has i and w en the ying, " wood the bring nd figh	id, sen d [Th or Min with gr GOL at his with t with	d to mo is was sm-1 i we for wat gle poke so grant words esses Y him :	e nigh Ruvs shall b his cou stout that t seem It is he is	it and ARP's bring t cather cather is fel as true better so shree	day to boldes kenn a kither, l mure s go we v	the the din and lever spel
Sect. iv.] The King then charges him with KYWART's death Then is REVNARD sore afraid. He wists not what to sav. He is at his wiss' end, and looks shout him pisceusly. But no man proffers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and ights so that all hear him; but the Wolf and the Bear are glad it happens well for the Fox that Dame RUKENAW the She Ape was there Her first speech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rejoinder Her second apeech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The King's rejoinder The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can he excuse himself of that is laid spaint him ?" REYNARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine aunt! I have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairest learing: that wer man heart, and bring unyself out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART donal! And where is BELLIN the Ram gauset for I delivered und him three juest. One for the King, the other two for my	the Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin have fold you all All the beasts, bu 1-AFREEL and Co may fare evil ! 1 Hereof knoweth [Are] and depart though there wer	For the g' I when I truth" oth poor MEANT of He can b ho man than that we five of	and ricescape 1 ewrap i than the shares at we shares we	that of this, th, wer- from the and co- we, ho sould h could	PUR I lan be Co ver hi w sho sold a not d	y Aase thereo Queen, E GOL. sphed : sphed : sphed : still who ourt, sa s falseh ruld we field an efend o	no righ of ; and b kas i and w en the ying, " wood th e bring nd figh	id, sem d [Th or Min ny nin idh gr GOL at his with t with ts : ha	d to mi is was an-1 : we for wat gle grant words uses ? i him ; u woul	e nigh Rnvn shall l his cou stout that t seem It is he is id slay	it and ARP's bring t cather cather is fel as true so shree rue all	day to boldes them a wither, a sgo we we we we	the the dlin and lever spel yke Yca, shout him pitcously. But no man proffers him hand. The Fox stands in great dread and lights so that all hose him; but the Wolf and the Beet are glad Her first peech on behalf of REVNARD Her first peech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rejoinder Her second speech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Man that delivered a Serfert from peril of death She summons all the friends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what we should now all a political demonstration] PraNERL says. "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict" The King said, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can be excue himself of that is laid against him ? REVNARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine awail 1 have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairset learing: that wer man heard, and bring unyedf out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART dead I And where is BELLIN the Ram glant I For I delivered und him three greater. One for the you when he farm against For I delivered what him three invest.	the Pope's curse. By lord, the Kin have told you all have told you all LAPRERL and Co may fare evil ! I Hereof knoweth [Ace] and depart though there we LAPRER and Be	For the of 1 when 1 truth" oth poor mean T of He can b ho man than that than that than that	and rices excape than the two shows wood	inal of rd this, from the and co we, ho we, ho could h (wad)	PUR I las he Co ver his word a not d in th	y Aase there Concern, E Cot. sghed; sghed; sill whe ourt, sz s falseh ruld we field an efend o emselv	no righ of ; and , Wife D has and w en the ying, " wood the bring nd figh ourselves to se	id, sem d [Th or Min ny nin idh gr GOL at his with the with the these these these	d to m is was an-1 : exe for rat giv poke so grant words esses Y i him ; it woul se two	e nigh Ruvn chail i his con admess stout that t seem It is he is id slay escape	if and Anp's bring f neutino came i came i his fel as true bettet so shree us all from	day to holdes kither, l murd as go we we we the C	the the dlin and lever spel yke Yca,
It happens well for the Fox that Dame Ruxes we the She Ape was there Her first peech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rejoinder Her second speech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Man that delivered a Serfert from peril of death She summons all the friends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what we should now all a political demonstration] PraNERL says. "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict" The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can be excue himself of that is laid against him ? REVNARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine about 1 have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairset learing: that wer man heard, and bring unyself out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART dead I And where is BELLLY the Ram against For I delivered unto them three speels. One of the two you when he farm against. For the lower for more involved to for the King, the other two for more for the Ram against. For I delivered unto the fine them the for the King, the other two for more for the farm of the farmer for the farmer for the farm, the other two for more for the King.	the Pope's curse. By lord, the Kin have told you all All the beasts, hu LAFREEL and Co may fare evil ! I Hereoi knoweth (Reel and depart though there we LAFREW and Be The Fox offers for	For the g 1 when trutk" oth poor REANT of He can b ho man than tha than that than that the five of UIN were or the Ki	and rice excape i than the than the two sh us, we wood ing's se	inal of rd this, from the and con- we, ho bouid ho could [wad] the, to	PUR I las the Co ver hi w sho not d in th pardo	y have : there Queen, E GOL: ghed : till whe s falseh ruld we field as efend o enselve and :	no right of ; and , Wife D has n and w en the ying, " wood th e bring nd figh ourselve es to se forgive	if, sen if, sen or Many nin if a gr Fox sp GOL at his with s ; has t with ts ; has t thes [1] L.	d to m is was an-1 : the for rad give poke so ) grant words esses Y i him ; it would se two space two	e nigh Ruvs chail i his con- admess stout that i seem. It is he is id slay escape	if and ARP's bring 3 bring 3 cather structure in better so shree us all s from Consat	day to holdes kent a kither, as go we we we the C st	the the dist and lever spel. yke Yca,
Her first speech on behalf of REVNARD The King's rojoinder The Second apeech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Man that delivered a Serfent from peril of death She summons all the friends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what we should now rall a political demonstration] FRANKL says, "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict" The King said, "This is all true. I shall hear the Fox. Can be excuse himself of that is laid gainst him f" REVNARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine aunt ! I have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairest learing: that wer man heard, and bring inyself out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas 1 what say ye? Is KYWART donal I And where is BELLIN the Ram I (Eaten, as he well knew, by BRUM and ISCAM). What brought he to you when he	the Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin have fold pot all All the beasts, bu LAPREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Hereof knowth (Mer) and depart though there wer LARGENM and BR The Fox offers fo [Sect. iv.] The K Then is REYMAR about him pireou	For the of 1 when i truth " oth poor MBANT & He can b Ho man than tha than tha than tha than tha than the Ki were of the Ki ing then b sore af isly. Bu	Cardis I hear and ricescape 1 ewrap 1 than 1 the sh us, wood ing's se charge fraid. it no n	inal of rd this, th, were from thand co- we, ho could ho could [mad] [ke, to so him He wi nan pr	PUP I law e all s he Co ver hi w sho old a not d in th pardo with i sts no offers.	y have , there of the con- general for the con- transformer , says falled and the field and effend of the con- m and the con- kywar what him has the con- him has the con-him has the con- him has the con-him has the con- him has the con-him has the con-him has the con- him has the con-him has the con-him has the con-him has the him has the con-him has the con-	no right of ; and , Wife D has i and w en the ying, " wood the bring nd figh ourselve for give ers to sav to sav to sav	if, sen if, sen or Min ny sig ifk gr GOL at his at his t with at his t with t with t with t with t if t he f t he f t he f t he f t he f t he f or Si f or Si or Si f or Si or Si f or Si or Si Si Or Si Or Si Si Or Si Si S	d to mu is was and in was and for east glo poke so grant words essos f him; t words thim; t words to him; t words to the for the for the for the for the for the for the for the for the for t	e nigh Rnvn shall i his cou stout that i seen It is he is id slay escape and (	if and ARP's bring f cather is cather is cathe	day to boldes keen a kither, as go we we the C st and 1 dread	t lie] dl in and lerer spel. vyke Yca, ourt
The King's rejoinder. Her second speech in favour of the Fox, in which occurs The Parable of a Man that delivered a Serferst from peril of death She summons all the fineds and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what see should now rall a political demonstration] Fina FERT says. "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict." The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can be excuee himself of that is laid against him ? The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can be excuee himself of that is laid against him? Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART dead I And where is BELLIN the Can gener, for delivered unto the in three grees, and bring forth the fairest learing: that were man heart, and bring nymelf out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART dead I And where is BELLIN the Can (Easen, as he well knew, by BROW and INGERM). What brought he to you when her man equin for the for editored unto the first for the King, the other two for my	The Poper curse. My lord, the Kin Anve fold you all All the beasts, ho LAPREEL and Co may fare evil: 1 Hercof knoweth [Aer] and depart though there were known and Ba The Fox offers for [Sect. iv.] The K Then is RevNAR about him pitceous sighs so that all 1	For the g I when I truth" oth poor bean T of the can b ho man than tha than tha than the CON were or the Ki ing then to sore af how how how how how how that how the can b that the that the the that the that the the the the the the the the	A Card s I hear excape 1 ewrap 1 than	inal of ref this, sh, were from the and co- we, ho could ho could ho could ho could ho could ho could he is him the, to shim he wi he wo	PUP J las e all s he Co ver hi w sho old a not d in th pardo with i sts no offers. If and	y have , there, Queen , E COL. sghed ; till when urt, say s falseh ruld we field an efend o emselve m and t KywAR t what him ha the Be	no right of a and wife and wife and a conthe	if, sen if, sen if (Th ary nig if go GOL at his with at his it has to the fill th The F glad	d to mis is was an-1 in the for real give poke so ) grant words Y words Y words Y is him; it woul se two present is is at 1 ox sta	e nigh Rnvss shall i his co- stout that i seem. It is he is id slay escape . and ( his with nds in	if and ARP's bring is neutring is neutring canned as true as true is better so shree us all from Consat s' end, great	day to boldes keen a wither, as go we we we the C st and 1 dread	t fie] dl in and lerer spel. vyke Yca, ourt ooks and
The Farable of a Man that delivered a Serfert From peril of death She summons all the finends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what we should now rall a political demonstration] FIRAREL says, "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict". The King said, "This is all true, I shall bear the Fox. Can be excuse himself of that is laid against him ?" REYMARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine aunt? I have now a good foot to dance on I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the foirest learning: that wer man heard, and bring unyself out of this danger" Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWART deal I And where is BELLIN the farm (Easen, as he well knew, by BROW and INGERM). What brough the to you when her for the for delivered unto him three species. One for the King, the other two for my	The Pope's curse. My lord, the Kin. Mave fold pot all All the beasts, bh LAPREEL and Co- may fare evil ! ] Hereoi knowth Hereoi knowth (Jeel and depart though there were LAPREEL and Co- may fare evil ! ] Hereoi knowth though there were LAPREEL and Co- may fare evil ! ] Hereoi knowth though there were though there were ights so that all ] th happens well i	For the g' 1 when truth " orh poor MEANT of He can b to man than than the five of UIs were we five of UIs were for the Ki ing then to sore affinish. But hear him loc the Fi	e Card s I hear ewrap : than y t we sh us, we wood ing's se charge fraid. it no n ; but t on that	inal of rad this, the work from the and co- sould he could [wad] [wad] the, to so him He win nan pr he Wo Dame	PUP, I lass e all s he Co ver hi w sho old a not d in th pardo with i sts no offers. If and Ruse	y have to have the have to have the have to have the him have to have to him h	no right of a and wife and the bring and the shouse of the bring and figh nurselve es to se forgive to sav und. T set are the Sh	if, sen if, se	d to mis is was an-1 : to for reaf give poke so ) grant words Y words Y is him; ; it woul se two is at l ox stav was th	e nigh Rnvs shall i his con- stout that i seem. It is he is id slay escape . and ( 	if and ARP's bring f transf canner datue i hetter so shre us all from Consar ts' end, great	day to boldes kiew a kither, and 1 murd as go we v we v we v we d the C st and 1 dread	t fie] dl in and lerer spel. vyke Yca, ourt ooks and
She summans all the friends and kin of the Fox to the number of farty [what sue should now all a political demonstration] FIRAPER says, "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict". The King said, "This is all true, I shall hear the Fox. Can be excuse himself of that is laid gainst him ? REYMARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine abust 1 have now a good dot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairest leasing: that wer man heard, and bring myself out of this danger" Sect v.] The Foxe cries, Alast what say ye? Is KYWART dond I And where is BELLIN the Ram f [Eaten, as he well knew, by BRUN and INECRIM]. What brought he to you when he ame again? For I delivered unto him three greates. One for the King, the other two for my	Mr Poper cursu. My lord, the Kin Anor load you all All the beasts, bh LAPREEL and Co may fare evil: 1 Hercoi knoweth (Mer] and depart though there wer LSRGRYM and Bas The Fox offers for (Sect. iv.) The K Then is REYMAR. Bout him piece sight so that all Her first speech The Kinov reliab	For the g I when I truth " oth poor MBANT of HE can b Ho man than tha than than than than than than than than than than the five of UIN were strike Ki ing them to sore af isly. Bu hear him for the Ki on behalt of the Ki	e Card s I hear encape is encape is than than t we sh us, we ewrap is than than t we sh us, we ewood ing's sa charge fraid. it no n ; but t for Rg	Inal of red this, from the and could be could he could he could he could he could he could he could he could he could he he he he he he wo he wo he wo he wo he wo he wo he he wo he he wo he he he he he he he he he he he he he	PUR, I las e all s be Co ver hi w sho iold a not d in th pardo with i sts no offers. If and s Ruc 0	y have to have	no right f; and , bi if and , bi if and and us and us in the ying, " wood the bring out the bring out to set to sav to sav to sav to sav the Sh 	if, sen or M. sty side if A gr Fox si GOL at his t with at his t with at his t with at his t he is t he is t he is t he is t he is t he i i t he is t he is t he i he i i he i i he i he i i he i i h i i h i h	d to mu is was sm-1 : rat give poke so grant give poke so grant give words esses Y i him ; i t words esses Y i t words esses t words esses Y i t words esses i t words	e nigh Rnvs chail i his coulors stout that i seen It is he is id slay escape . and ( 	if and ARP's bring f transformed canned by his fel as true better so shree us all form Consat  great	day to boldes kiew a kither. I mure as go we v we v the C st dread	t fie] t fie] df is ind spel. yke Yca, ourt soks and
FIRAFREL says, "Sire, you may judge no further than your men give verdict". The King said, "This is all true, I shall bear the Fox. Can be excuse himself of that is laid against him ? REYMARD was glad at these words, and thought, "GOD thank mine about ? I have now a good foot to dance on, I shall now loak out of mine yeas, and bring forth the fairest leasings that wer man heard, and bring myself out of this danger" Sect v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYWARI dond I And where is BELLIN the Ram f [Eaten, as he well knew, by BRUN and INECRIM]. What brought he to you where he ame again? For I delivered unto him three greats.	The Poper curves. My lord, the Kin Anne look you all All the beasts, bh LAPREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Hercoi knoweth [Acr] and depart though there wer LARGRUM and BR The Fox offers fo [Sect. iv.] The K Then is REYMAR about him pieces righs so that all i It happens well i Her first speech. The King's rejoin Her second appee	For the g' I when I truth " oth poor MBANT of He can b I to man than tha e five of UIN were than than than than than than than the ing then UIN were than the ing then to some af isly. Bu hear him for the Fi on behalf oder	e Card s I hear and tic excape i than to than to that to to to t	Inal of ref this, from the and cover, ho could ho could h	PUR, I las e all s be Co ver hi w sho iold a not d in th pardo with i sts no offers. If and Rue o 	Asse : there, Concer, E GOL. sphed ; sphed	no right f; and , bi if and and us and us in the ying, " nord the bring and the bring ord the bring in the to set to save to save to save to save the Sh 	if, sen or M. ary air GOL at his t with at his t with at his t with at his t he fill the Figlad e Ape	d to music was is was refor raf gie poke so grant gie words esses Y i him ; it words retwo vords esses Y i him ; it words retwo vords to sat was the was the was the 	e nigh Rnvs chall i his con where that i seen. It is he is he is he is and con this with nds in	if and AEP's firing t meabins cannot this fel as true to shree us all from Consat ts' end, great	day to boldes boldes kither, kither, as go we we the C st and 1 dread i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i	the the difference spel. yyke and ooks and scame and the second state of the second state of the second state of the second secon	Me Pope course. My lord, the Kin have load year all All the beasts, bh Lapreet and Co may fare evil : 1 Hercoi knoweth (Jer] and depart though there wer Langrun and Ba The Fox offers for [Sect. iv.] The K Then is REYMAR. Bout him piece sight so that all Her first speech Her second speec The Panable of She aumons all	For the g I when y I truck " oth poor WEANT of He can b ho man than that we five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a ho man behall other the Fo on behall oder	e Card s I hear and rice everap : than t twe sh us, we swood ing's sa charge fraid. it no n ; but t on that f of Rz our of wit delinds and	inal of ref this, the were from the and cover we, ho could he could (wead) the, to be we he wo he wo bare to bare to b	PUR , I las e all s he Cou wor hi wor hi wor hi wor hi anot d in the pardo with 1 struct offers. If and s Russ offers. a Ser the I	whate is there of there of there there is falsely is falsely in and is field as efend of emselve in and is Kywar is what him has the Be is not which of feat for fox to	no right of ; and of ; of ; of ; and of ; of ;	id, sam d [Thi my shi my shi idk gr GOL at his with gr GOL at his with gr the Fox 84 (1) Lot the Fox 84 (1)	d to see is was see of or easy for easy for easy for words covers y is would se two or sees y is at l ox stat was th was th is at l	e nigh Rnyn Rnyn Skall i klis col skall i klis col stout that i seena It is he is id slay escappe , and ( his with nds in 	if and ARP's ' bring 's ' neutine cather i cather i ly ihis fel as true as true to so shree thettet so shree so so shree so so shree so so shree so so shree so so so so so shree so so s	day to boldes boldes been a bither, a set as go we be the C st and 1 dread	the the during during during the rer the spell during the spell during the spell during durin
bot to dance on, I shall now look out of mine eyes, and bring forth the fairest leasings that wer man heard, and bring myself out of this danger" Sect v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what sayye? Is KYWART doad! And where is BELLIN the Ram! (Easen, as he well know, by BEUR and ISCORNA). What brought he to you when he ame again! For I delivered unto him three jewels. One for the King, the other two for my	Me Pope course. My lord, the Kin have load year all All the beasts, bh Lapreet and Co may fare evil : 1 Hercoi knoweth (Jer] and depart though there wer Langrun and Ba The Fox offers for [Sect. iv.] The K Then is REYMAR. Bout him piece sight so that all Her first speech Her second speec The Panable of She aumons all	For the g I when y I truck " oth poor WEANT of He can b ho man than that we five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a five of UIS were a ho man behall other the Fo on behall oder	e Card s I hear and rice everap : than t twe sh us, we swood ing's sa charge fraid. it no n ; but t on that f of Rz our of wit delinds and	final of rol this, the were from the and cover we, ho could he could (wad) the, to be we he wo he wo bare to bare to ba to bare to bare to bare to bare to bare to bare to ba to baret	PUR , I las e all s he Cou wor hi wor hi wor hi wor hi anot d in the pardo with 1 struct offers. If and s Russ offers. a Ser the I	whate is there of there of there there is falsely is falsely in and is field as efend of emselve in and is Kywar is what him has the Be is not which of feat for fox to	no right of ; and of ; of ; of ; and of ; of ;	id, sam d [Thi my shi my shi idk gr GOL at his with gr GOL at his with gr the Fox 84 (1) Lot the Fox 84 (1)	d to see is was see of or easy for easy for easy for words covers y is would se two or sees y is at l ox stat was th was th is at l	e nigh Rnyn Rnyn Skall i klis col skall i klis col stout that i seena It is he is id slay escappe , and () his with nds in 	if and ARP's ' bring 's ' neutine cather i cather i ly ihis fel as true as true to so shree thettet so shree so so shree so so shree so so shree so so shree so so so so so shree so so s	day to boldes boldes been a bither, a set as go we be the C st and 1 dread	the the during during during the rer the spell during the spell during the spell during durin
Sect. v.] The Foxe cries, Alas! what say ye? Is KYSFART dead I And where is BELLIN the Came (Earen, as he well knew, by BRUN and INSCRIM). What brought he to you when he ame gastin ? For I delivered unto him three seculs. One for the King, the other two for my	The Proper curves. My lord, the Kin have fold you all All the beasts, hi LAPREEL and Co may fare evil: 1 Hereof knoweth [Aer] and depart though there wer LAPREEL and Co may fare evil: 1 Here are an evil: 1 The Fox offers for (Sect. iv.] The K Then is REWSAR about him pireoe sight so that all It happens well if Her first speech The King's rejoin The King's rejoin Che summons all call a political d printical says. ' The King said. ' Th	For the g I when I frouth " oth poor mean T ele can b no man than tha the five of UIN were at the Ki ing them to sore af usly. Bu hear him for the Fion con behall on behall on behall on behall the frien comonstra " Sire, w This is a	e Card s I hear everap i than y the share ing's se charge fraid. it no m ; but t ox that f of Rz our of 1 but deli uds and ation] ou may all true.	inal of ref this, the work from the and cover we, how would he could [wad] the to be the he wo bame type the Fo work the Fo work han of judge 1 sh	PURP. PU	A have : there of the second the second is the	ne right of the second of the	id, seen d [Th ary suiding or Minary suiding or Minary Fox 84 CGOL at his without with the CGOL at his without with the site of the construction of the set of the set of the set the set of the set o	d to music was is was much for read for pract for pract pra	e night Rnyw Rnyw Soluti I Alis colour Solution Solutio Solutio Solution So	if and Amp's ' bring ' bring ' form' came ' is an true better so shree us all from Consa. Consa. great ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' '	day to boldes kither, 1 murd 1 murd we v we v the C NT the C NT the C NT the c that is	t lie t lie dl in cand lerer spel. lerer spel. lerer spel. ourt
	Me Pope course. My lord, the Kin have load year all All the beasts, bh LAPREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Hercoi knoweth (Jer] and depart though there wer Langrum and Bas The Fox offers for [Sect. iv.] The K Then is REYMAR Bas offers for She Summars all call a political of parable of of She summars all call a political of France Lays.	For the g I unkers' oth poor WEANT & Chennel He can be no man than thas the file can be no sore af usly. Bu hear him for the Ki usly. Bu hear him for the Ki the frier commutation of the file "Sire, yo This is a and at the I shall a	e Card s I heave escape i than to than than to than than than than than than than than	final of and this, sh, were from than of we, ho sould h could be sould here to could the to could be to could be t	PURP. PURP. e all s he Cover hi work old a work old a work old a work old a work of a more a Ser. x, in n a Ser. the l 	y hazer r there, r there, Queen, sched, s	ne right of the second of the	if, seen if (Th or M. ny nititle gr Fox 8/ GOL Fox 8/ GOL To Solution without without without without without the F glad e Appendix if of o mber o if me f glad if me f glad if me f glad if me f if me f glad if me f if m	d to m is was men 1 i the for poke so l grant words cover for words cover for the so poke so p	e night Ruvn Ruvn kir cou stout that I seem I to seem I to see I to seem I to see I to seem I to see I to seem I to to seem I to seem I to see I to se to to to to to to to to t	ti and Ann's Ann's bring i neubinn iy	day to boldess wither, in murd as go we we we kould house that is woo a i	t lie t lie dl in cand lerer spel. lerer vyke Vca. ooks and lerer in spel. lerer vyke lerer in spel. in spel. spel. in spel.
	The Poper course. My lord, the Kin have load you all All the beasts, bh have load you all All the beasts, bh LAPREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Hercoik knoweth [Aer] and depart though there were LAPREEL and Co may fare evil : 1 Her for offers fa She The Fox offers fa She Sumas well i Her first speech Her second speech The King's rejoin Her second speech The King's rejoin Her second speech The King's rejoin Her first speech Her first spe	For the g I under thruth" in poor mean T and the mean T and the mean T and the mean that the size of the the first of the the first of the mean him for the First or the Kis ing them to sore af size, We have the first or the first or the first or the first or a show the the first or a show the the first or a show the show the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the first or the fir	c Card, s I here is and the escape is there ever any every every any there ever any there eve	that if you are a set of the set	Purper Purper States of the Control	y haze - thermodynamic of the second seco	ne right and the second of the	id, seen d [Thi or Mi, may said side of the same result of the same	d to m is was me-f. tarfor and yle are yoke so are yoke so words words words words words words words words words is at 1 out would be to word words wo	e night e en night e stout i that i stout that i seem of that i seem of that i seem of that i seem of the si he is seem of the si seem of the	té and sarn's bring t neubing ty ty ty ty ty ty ty ty this fel so shree ty this fel ty this fel ty this fel ty the so shree ty the so so shree ty the so shree ty the so shree ty the so so shree ty the so so shree ty the so	day to boldes boldes the man wither, as good the C strend the C strend the C strend the C strend the C strend the C strend the C strend the S strend the S strend	the triel unter the triel of th

vii