Memoir of the Author.

THE little work here offered to the public was composed by its Author during the later stages of the lingering illness which brought him to an early grave. It was partly printed before he died, and he took an interest to the last in its progress through the press. The object which he contemplated in writing it is sufficiently explained by his brief Preface:—

“The following pages are offered, by one who for some time has been laid by through illness from active work, to those who are in similar circumstances. The subjects of the chapters have been chosen as suitable either for cheering or instructing the hearts whom God is chastening.”
