TO

THE SECRETARY OF THE "S. C. A."

*Dear little friend, with quaintest fancies fed,
Walking all dream-encompassed day by day,
What tricky spirit put into your head
The S. C. A?*

*Such an odd comic fancy and idea,
A mingling-up of earnest and of play,
But very real to you, and very dear,—
The S. C. A,*

*"It is a secret!" Yes, I don't forget.
The curious world may question as it may,
May cavil, cross-examine, fume, and fret,
Of S. C. A,*

*But you and I will hold our peace, content,
Nor give a hint of what it means to say:
The Secretary we and President
Of S. C. A.*

*Only the mystery's pledge and sign, to Her
I dedicate this little book to-day,
My very august fellow-officer
In S. C. A.*
