FOREWORD

I should never have thought of writing this book had I not been urged to do so. For years it has been my privilege to lecture before teachers' institutes and associations. One of the lectures that has seemed to have special value is entitled Personality. At the request of friends who have heard the lecture I have enlarged its scope and am giving it to the public.

Its matter is old; so is the multiplication table. But there are always the young among us, to whom the common wisdom of the world is new. To such I trust this book may be of some service.

I desire to express my obligation to Prof. C. E. Patzer, of the Milwaukee Normal School, for reading the book in proof.
