PEACE INSURANCE

Published @ 2017 Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd

ISBN 9780649668656

Peace Insurance by Jr. Stockton

Except for use in any review, the reproduction or utilisation of this work in whole or in part in any form by any electronic, mechanical or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including xerography, photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, is forbidden without the permission of the publisher, Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd, PO Box 1576 Collingwood, Victoria 3066 Australia.

All rights reserved.

Edited by Trieste Publishing Pty Ltd. Cover @ 2017

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form or binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

www.triestepublishing.com

JR. STOCKTON

PEACE INSURANCE

工03723500

PEACE INSURANCE

RICHARD STOCKTON, JR.

With Eleven Plates by Frank N. Thompson

SECOND PRINTING

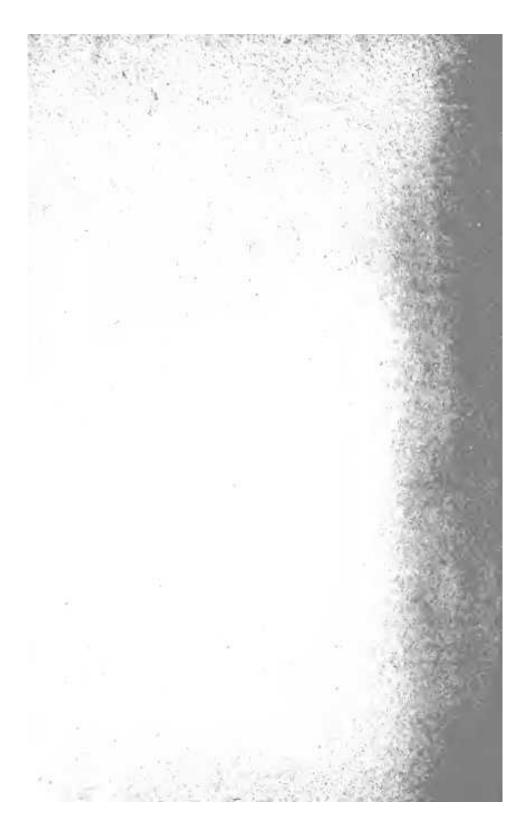

A. C. McCLURG & CO.

26923

Copyright A. C. McCLURG & CO. 1915

Published January, 1915

To the Officers of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps,
and National Guard
who, knowing better than all others the needlessness of the sacrifice, will willingly go forth to the deaths which public indifference and ignorance may require in our next war; who work unceasingly and thanklessly to lessen the probable calamity

PREFACE

FOR one truly to study the art and science of war, and its political and economic causes and effects, and then to attempt a work thereon with a claim of marked originality, is but to proclaim that one feels that the illustrious men, from the dawn of history to the present day, have been but fools. War and statesmenship are the oldest of great sciences, and while modern inventions have caused some changes, and civilization has lessened the surface causes of international struggles, their essential principles are still the same. When one studies these things and attempts to express one's thoughts, the result is but a repetition of the perhaps forgotten writings of notable men, both ancient and modern, both American and foreign. All that is left, therefore, is to apply these old, undying facts to things as they now exist, and in this case to the United States in particular. Nor is it necessary for me to express vague, unproven theories of my own. The approved authorities, even, in fact, my opponents, support me. I have therefore no apology to make for numerous quotations from great men and authorities - soldiers, statesmen, scholars, and philosophers of the present and the past. I but thank them for expressing what, mayhap, was beyond me.

Similarly, as Professor R. M. Johnston, of Harvard, remarked in a letter to the author, "I oppose not the pacifist, but the pacifimaniac." I wish every success to those who strive to bring about the radical changes necessary for universal peace, but I warn against imaginary things which are not, and, in our life, cannot be.

The statistics used herein have been compiled from the most reliable sources, mainly from official governmental reports. It is believed that they are the most accurate that can, at this time, be obtained. Small errors, however, would have but little bearing on the facts, for the figures selected may in most cases be divided twice and even thrice without affecting the material statements in this work in any appreciable degree.

This book is written, therefore, inviting the opponents of its thesis to study the facts for themselves, and thereby be convinced; asking that but reasonable attention be given to the experts of our army and navy, and to our greatest statesmen.

RICHARD STOCKTON, JR.

Bordentown Military Institute, New Jersey, December, 1914.

CONTENTS

Chapter	Page
I	Is an Army and Navy a Burden During Peace?
II	A Less Expensive Substitute for Trained
III	The Likelihood of War Today 39
IV	Will War ever be Abolished? 56
v	Underlying Causes of War 72
VI	The Cost of War and its Horrors 90
VII	Some Advantages of Military Force and of War 109
VIII	The Slandering of the Soldier 121
IX	"Common People" and Military Force . 134
Х	The Military History of the United States . 143
XI	Economy of the Recommendations of the General Staff 159
XII	The Recommendations of the Naval Board . 179
XIII	Demagogue versus Statesman 189
XIV	Conclusions