MINNA THOMAS ANTRIM

DON'TS FOR GIRLS: A MANUAL OF MISTAKES, PP. 9-112

DON'TS FOR GIRLS

DON'T be ashamed of your parents.
They may be un-
learned and dull,
but they gave
you the chance to become what you are. Honor them before all men

DON'T neglect little deeds, while dreaming of great ones

DON'TS

DON'T be spoiled.
Permit none to persuade you
there are none
so lovely, so
witty, or so wise.
Be sweetly grateful, but not proud

DON'T be a prig. Girls who are never a little foolish,
are always deadly
dull

FOR GIRLS

DON'T chatter. Babbling is baneful. Gigglers should be punished by solitary confinement

DON'T regulate your behavior by geography. Be as modest at the sea shore as at home

DON'T be good because you must, but because you should

DON'TS

DON'T form hysterical attachments for other girls. It is silly. Such loves die very suddenly, frequently leaving a trail of ridicule behind. "Adore" only God

DON'T ask God for foolish things. Remember, He is all wisdom

FOR GIRLS

DON'T take acquaintances into your confidence. Some very pleasant young persons are good listeners, but more talented as gossips

DON'T fib about little things. It is futile, and foolish, and inevitably creates distrust

DON'TS

DON'T boast. It is vulgar and invariably cheapens you

DON'T confuse possibility and probability. Floods of tears may follow

DON'T purchase any pleasure at the price of another girl's pain. The tables of Fate are ever revolving

FOR GIRLS

DON'T become masculine if you are a college girl. Fit yourself for a vocation if you choose, but hold fast to your girlish personality

DON'T abuse your strength. Young muscles are delicate. "On the go" all the time, presages "off the go" in later life
