INDEX TO PERIODICAL REFERENCES	134

FOREWORD

This bibliography was prepared for the Committee on the War and the Religious Outlook by the Reverend Marion J. Bradshaw during the period of several months in which he served as Acting Secretary of the Committee. Its preparation was made possible by the generous cooperation of the Union Theological Seminary, New York, in making a special appropriation of funds for carrying on the bibliographical work.

Mr. Bradshaw has undertaken to collect the more important material in English dealing with the general subject of the War and Religion. The main emphasis has been placed on titles bearing specifically on this subject in some of its aspects, but supplementary sections have been included having to do with various special fields closely related to the interests of the Church. It will be clear that most of these sections are less complete and of less value than those which deal with the main theme of the bibliography. With a few exceptions the references are to publications which appeared prior to January first, 1919.

It is hoped that the annotations included will make it of practical value to ministers as well as to libraries and theological seminaries. Asterisks (*) indicate the more important references.

The Committee on the War and the Religious Outlook was constituted, while the war was still in progress, by the joint action of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and the General War-Time Commission of the Churches "to consider the state of religion as affected by the war, with special reference to the duty and opportunity of the churches, and to prepare its findings for submission to the Churches." Full reports of the Committee will be submitted later in the year. In the meantime this bibliography is issued as a guide to those who desire to study the religious situation or the work of the Church in the light of the War.

The Committee makes grateful acknowledgment to Mr. Bradshaw for this arduous and valuable work and to the Union Theological Seminary for its helpful cooperation.

GENERAL INFLUENCE OF THE WAR ON RELIGION

See Other Sections for More Specialized Discussions

Adams, J. Esslemont. The chaplain and the war. Edinburg, 1915, 61p.

See section II, 2.

Addams, Jane. The revolt against war. Survey, Jl 17 '15, p. 355-9.

Sees the war giving a set-back to the spirit religion tries to foster.

Adderley, James. And behold we live. London, 1918, 136p.

See section II, 1.

Allan, Charles. The beautiful thing that has happened to our boys. Greenlock, 1915, 128p.

Has some scattered statements. Not very valuable.

Alviella, G.d'. Moral aspects and issues of the present war. Hibbert J, Ja '16, p. 233-50.

Sees growth of toleration, with tendency toward syncretism.

Aveling, F. War religion. Cath World, Ag '18, p. 669-78.

Ballard, Frank. Christianity after the war. London, 1916, 155p.

Most concerned with avoiding present dangers, and with reconstruction, but states some effects both good and bad.

Barres, Maurice. The faith of France. Macmillan, 1918, 316p.

Shows the effects of the war on the four French religions, Catholicism, Protestantism, Judaism, Socialism. Many good quotations, Barres largely an editor rather than author.

Barry, Frank Russell. Religion and the war. London, 1915, 92p.

Deals with present and future problems facing religion. Shows some effects of the war, but shows more interest in present needs. Not based on observations, however, so limited in value.

Begbie, Harold. The war and the religious outlook. Homil R, Ja '16, p. 3-7.

War increasing spirit of service, but hastening the decay of dogmatic Christianity.

Bell, G. K. A. The war and the Kingdom of God. London, 1915, 185p.

A collection of thoughtful essays, treating many phases of relation of Christianity to this war.
