THE following papers were drawn up at first by Dr. WORTON for the use of a friend, but were afterwards improved and enlarged by him, with a design to make them public. It was with this view that the deceased author put them into my hands; and I do assure the reader, that they are exactly printed from his manuscript, without any addition, diminution, or alteration, whatsoever.

HENRY GALLY.

APRIL 9, 1734.

* Prefixed to the first edition of this tract, published separately in 8vo. London, 1734.

THE following little treatise, although intended by its Author for publication, was not given to the world until eight years after his death; when it was put forth by Dr. Gally, Prebendary of Gloucester and Norwich, and Chaplain to King George II. Since that time, it has been frequently attached to Archdeacon St. George's Examination of Candidates for Holy Orders; and is included in Bishop Cleaver's List of Books recommended to the Clergy of the diocese of Chester, 8vo. Oxford, 1791.

As a concise yet comprehensive manual, it has appeared deserving of republication; and in order to render it more generally useful, some notes have been added, descriptive of the various works recommended by the Au-
