PREFACE

THE chapters of this book were originally lectures delivered at the 1917 Conference for Church Workers at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Massachusetts. At the request of a number of the members of my class, men and women keenly interested in religion and in our modern social life, as it is and as it is to be, I have prepared them for publication.

It is to be hoped that no one will suppose them to be presented as final conclusions, dogmatically stated. He would be a madman, indeed, who thought that he had either the authority or the ability to tell the Christian world just how, in these times of flux and confusion, it ought to be applying the principles of Chris-
